

Monday Is Registration Day
For Nine-Week Summer 'Rec'
Program In 5 Play Areas Here

Next Monday will be registration day at the five play areas in Gettysburg as a nine-week summer recreation program gets underway under the supervision of the Gettysburg Recreation Association.

Chester A. Hilger, Gettysburg's recreation director, announced the sections into which the children of the town have been divided for assignment to the various play areas and told of plans for minor league playground games, tennis instruction, a music program and swimming instruction.

Hilger also announced the personnel that will staff the various play areas. An arts and crafts program will be added as soon as a qualified instructor can be found, he said.

Town Sections Given

The recreation director said that all children living in the area bounded by the west side of Baltimore St. and the south side of Chambersburg St. and Buford Ave. should report to the Recreation Park. All tots, aged 5 through 8, will also report there.

Those living in the area bounded by the east side of Baltimore St. and the south side of York St. will report to the Keefeauver School grounds. Tots in that area should report to the Fourth St. play area.

All children living on the north side and north of Chambersburg and York Sts. will report to the college playground at the west end of W. Broadway. Tots there will go to the Stevens St. play area.

Plan Minor League

The nine-week recreation program will close August 15 while the tot tots will operate on an eight-week program, closing August 8.

Mr. Hilger said that Monday also will be registration day for the Minor League and all players will report to their respective play areas. Four teams will be formed and a schedule between playgrounds will be carried out. Two teams will be chosen from the playground to enter the Little League next year which will be expanded to six teams.

Emphasis will be placed upon tennis again this year and Robert Nicholson will supervise a tennis program every evening from 6 to 9 o'clock. Those interested in tennis are urged to get in touch with him at the Recreation Park.

Music Program Outlined

An instrumental music program again will be conducted this year by Robert Zeigler, band instructor at the high school. Those who are interested should contact him at the band room at the high school. "We would like to stress the fact," Mr. Hilger said, "that any child interested in taking music instruction will not be penalized for missing other activity by taking music instruction."

This description was given of the groups to be conducted and the schedules they will follow:

Beginners' band for those people who are already in an elementary band. It will rehearse Monday and Thursday mornings at 8:30 o'clock.

Beginners' group for those people who have taken only a few lessons on their instruments and for those who are interested in starting the study of an instrument. They will meet each Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Practice Times Listed

Pre-band Group No. 1 for those who are in their first book of instruction. They will meet each Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Pre-band Group No. 2, for those who are in their second book of instruction and soon should be ready for an elementary band. They will meet each Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Ensemble groups: Because of the popularity of certain instruments as cornet and clarinet, three groups will be formed for each of these instruments—An elementary group for those in their first year of playing, an intermediate group for those in their second or third years and an advanced group for those playing more than three years. This grouping, today's announcement said, should provide for those people of all ages or abilities including the high school age student. In the case of flutes, drums, saxes, horns, baritone and trombones and bass horns, two groups will be held for the varying stages of advancement.

To Play "For Fun"

The schedule for these ensemble groups follows: Monday at 9:30 a.m., elementary clarinets and at 11:30 a.m., elementary and intermediate horns and basses; Tuesday at 8:30 a.m., advanced horns and basses and at 11:30 a.m., intermediate and advanced drums; Wednesday at 8:30 a.m., intermediate clarinets; 9:30 a.m., advanced clarinets; 10:30 a.m., elementary and intermediate saxophones; and at 11:30 a.m., advanced saxophones; Thursday at 9:30 a.m., intermediate and elementary flutes; 10:30 a.m., advanced flutes and 11:30 a.m., elementary and intermediate baritone and (Continued On Page 3)

GEN. TRUDEAU
WILL SPEAK AT SERVICES HERE

Lt. Gen. Arthur Gilbert Trudeau, chief of research and development for the U. S. Army, will be the speaker at memorial services here June 29 opening the week-long observance of the 95th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

General Trudeau will speak in the Gettysburg High School auditorium at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, June 29. The U. S. Army band chorus will present a concert and Gen. Willard S. Paul, president of Gettysburg College, will introduce the speaker.

A week-long festival starting Monday evening, June 30, and extending through July 5 will be held at the Recreation Field.

Special Services

A special observance is planned on the afternoon of July 1 at General Reynolds statue, marking the 95th anniversary of the death of the distinguished Lancaster resident who was killed while commanding the Union troops on the first day of the battle here.

The annual parade will be held July 4.

William G. Weaver, of the special events committee which arranged the Sunday night program, said General Trudeau is a native of Middlebury, Vermont, July 5, 1902. He was graduated from West Point and became a second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers on June 12, 1924.

He served various posts with the engineers and in 1935 was special assistant administrator to General Hugh Johnson with the Works Progress Administration.

As an instructor at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth in 1941 he helped develop the then new program of amphibious assault operations.

Many Decorations

In 1942 he was named chief of staff of the Engineer Amphibian Command and helped train six amphibian brigades.

He was named chief of research and development for the Army effective April 1.

He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal with oak leaf cluster, the Legion of Merit, the Silver Star with oak leaf cluster, the Bronze Star and Army Commendation Ribbon, and has been decorated by foreign governments.

Good Weather Is Expected For Show

Good weather is forecast for the sixth annual Gettysburg Horse Show to be presented Sunday afternoon at the Gettysburg Riding Club grounds, north of the Fairfield Rd. The show will begin at 12:30 o'clock with 26 classes to be in competition.

The show is sponsored jointly by the Gettysburg Riding Club and the Gettysburg Rotary Club with the profits to go to the building fund of the Warner Hospital. Committees from the two sponsoring organizations have been in charge of preparations for the show.

Paddock Wins Honor
In Land Judging

James Paddock, Gettysburg High School sophomore and elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Paddock, Gettysburg R. 2, was the only boy from Adams or Franklin Counties to win honors in land judging in the Future Farmers of America activities week contests at Pennsylvania State University earlier this week.

Paddock placed 14th among 51 boys from throughout the state and brought home a bronze certificate.

His name was inadvertently omitted from a list of eight other county winners.

Senator Charges Adams Loses
Usefulness To Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan said today Sherman Adams "has lost his usefulness to the administration" unless he can account more fully for expensive favors from Boston industrialists.

But despite a swelling political furor over President Eisenhower's top aide it seemed likely that no further explanation would be forthcoming for the time being.

Under persistent questioning by newsmen, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty yesterday refused to go beyond Adams' written explanation Thursday to a House subcommittee that earlier produced evidence Goldfine paid some $2,000 in Boston hotel bills for Adams over a four-year period.

Confidence In Adams

And Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower has complete confidence in Adams and has no intention of firing him.

In a letter to subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.), Adams acknowledged he had been a hotel guest of Goldfine in Boston and Plymouth, Mass. Describing

Scout Ceremonies
At 6:30 This Evening

The public observance of Flag Day to be conducted this evening in Lincoln Square by the Boy Scout units of the town will take place at 6:30 o'clock instead of 6 p.m. as was announced Friday, scout leaders said today.

Explorer, Boy Scout and Cub units 73, 76 and 79 will take part.

The ceremonies will be the first of the sort ever conducted here by the Boy Scouts but will be one of numerous such Scout ceremonies today throughout the Black Walnut District.

DEAN BURNABY TO OFFICIATE AT WEDDING ABROAD

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Dr. Mary Ann Nevins, assistant professor of English literature at New York's Vassar College, will be married here Monday to Dr. Leon Radznowicz, director of the Department of Criminal Science of Cambridge University.

Dr. Nevins, 33, is the daughter of U.S. Army Gen. Arthur S. Nevins. He is superintendent of President Eisenhower's farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

The bride's mother is here for the wedding but Nevins was unable to come over. The U.S. military attaché in London, Brig. Gen. William H. Hennig, will give the bride away.

The service in the chapel of Trinity College of Cambridge University will be conducted by the dean, the Rev. John Burnaby.

"We are trying to make the service as simple as possible," said Dr. Nevins. "There won't be more than 20 persons in the chapel."

Reception On Tuesday

The wedding reception will be held Tuesday in the lodge of Lord Adrian, master of Trinity College and vice chancellor of Cambridge University. The couple will honeymoon in Italy.

Dr. Nevins, on leave from Vassar, has been in England since September doing research for a book on the life and works of poet John Milton.

The 51-year-old groom was born in Poland. He came to Britain in 1938 and is now a British subject. Recognized as an authority on scientific and legal aspects of criminology, he was named to the Royal Commission on Capital Punishment and later was head of the social defense section of the United Nations in New York.

His first marriage was dissolved in 1955.

HERE MONDAY

Approximately 80 students are expected to begin the 18th annual Summer Orientation Conference at the Lutheran Theological Seminary Monday morning. The conference, which began in 1941, is sponsored by the Board of Higher Education of the United Lutheran Church in America. Dr. Mildred E. Winston, secretary of the board, is dean of the conference. Special programs will be held today and Sunday for those already present.

The Board of Higher Education will place 103 students in 27 camps this summer. Students will come from 59 schools in the U.S., Canada, Puerto Rico, Philippines, Germany, and Latvia. The camps are welfare, leadership training and recreational.

Placing Students

Students are placed in homes for children, aged and handicapped, hospitals, settlement houses, rural and urban churches, all under the auspices of the United Lutheran Church. The various institutions range from New York to Minneapolis.

Dr. Winston reported that more than 600 students applied for placement in camp this year out of which 103 were chosen.

The purpose of the conference is to give students experience in practical vocational guidance and opportunity to serve the church. During the past 17 years, about 1,400 students have been placed.

The regular weekday class schedule includes the following: Bible study, religious education, welfare, films, discussions and field trips; song-fests, crafts and community life.

The co-educational students will open and close each day with prayers in the Church of Abiding Presence, Seminary Campus.

306 BOY SCOUTS
ATTEND RETREAT

A total of 306 Boy Scouts and Explorers are registered at the three-day Catholic retreat at Camp Conewago, which opened Friday. This figure represents a new high in attendance. Last year 243 boys and leaders attended. Four Explorer posts and 14 Boy Scout troops are participating.

Those from the Black Walnut District are: Troop 77, Bonneauville, 22 boys and two leaders; Post 77, also from Bonneauville, six boys and one leader; Troop 78, Gettysburg, 18 boys and two leaders.

Officials of the retreat include: retreat master, Father Fabian, St. Francis Prep School, Spring Grove; camp director, Elwood Crum, Dallsstown, Pa.; area aid chairman, Frank Nichols, York, and coordinator, Charles Weaver, who is also area aid for Hanover and Adams County.

During the evening program, a campfire, rosary and conference were held. Father Fabian spoke on good scouting and how scouting pertains to good citizenship.

The outing will end Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

DeGaulle Asks Frenchmen For Hoarded Gold To Aid Regime

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle today sought a sound financial foundation for his political and colonial reform plans by asking his countrymen to dig hoarded money out of their mattresses.

France's World War II leader laid his prestige on the line last night in a nationwide radio-TV appeal for support for a new bond issue. He said backing it would mean a financial vote of confidence.

De Gaulle turned again to the problem of Algeria today.

He summoned Jacques Soustelle, political front man for the insurgent Algerian junta, after leaving him wait two days for an appointment.

There was talk De Gaulle might reprimand Soustelle for the junta's attempts to dictate to the government. But some observers predicted the Premier might ask his former Parliamentary leader to campaign in North Africa for the De Gaulle program.

For the first time, De Gaulle laid might described the future structure of France's overseas domain as a "federal" one—a vague term that could lead to something like the British Commonwealth. Paris has always exercised tight control over her overseas possessions and considered them part of the French motherland.

Algeria, he said, must always remain "body and soul" with France.

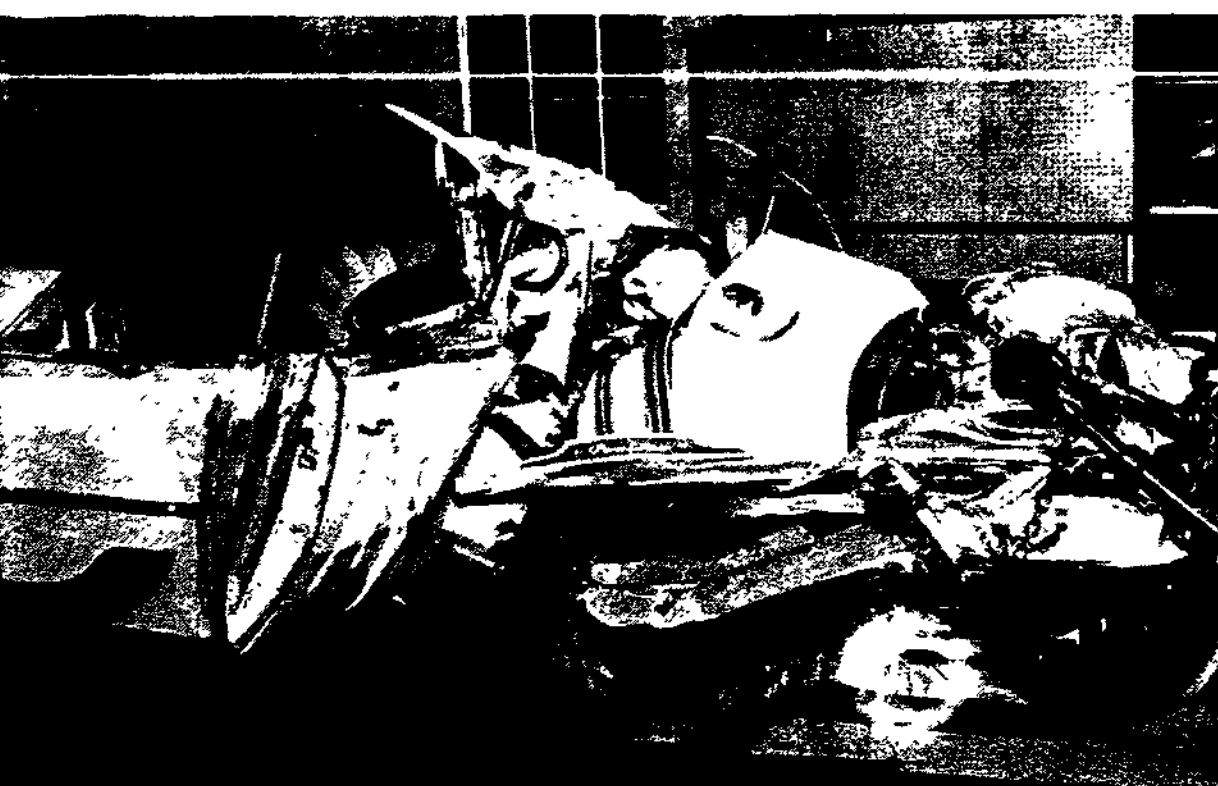

Vote Of Confidence

Even before he went on the air De Gaulle got a vote of confidence from the Algiers Committee of Public Safety which controls the all-Algeria junta. After the speech a spokesman for the Algiers group said:

"It is time to demonstrate our unshakable confidence in the government. This is no time for polemics."

GOING TO L.A.;
ALTER COURT

A court order handed down by Judge W. C. Sheely makes changes in dates for some of the August court sessions so he can be free to go to Los Angeles on a mission to which he has been made by the chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Judge Sheely has been named as one of the two delegates from Pennsylvania to the conference of trial judges to be held by the Section of Judicial Administration of the American Bar Association at Los Angeles on August 25.

The other Pennsylvania judge is Gerald F. Flood of Philadelphia.

These changes are made in the August dates under the court order just handed down: Deserion court is advanced from the scheduled August 22 to August 15 and trials scheduled for August 25 will be re-scheduled for Tuesday, September 2. The date for the Grand jury remains on August 18.

The effect of the changes is to clear the county court calendar of sessions between August 18 and 30, it was pointed out.

Throw Firecracker
At Woman In Yard

State Police are looking for the driver of an automobile from which a large firecracker was thrown at Mrs. John O. Whitman, Emmitsburg Rd., while she was trimming grass at her driveway about 8:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Mrs. Whitman was stooped over and then as the car neared the Whitman home one of the occupants threw the firecracker at Mrs. Whitman. It exploded at her feet, just as she leaped away. The blast tore a ten inch hole in the lawn.

Police are said to have several clues.

The penalty for this offense is a $500 fine or one year imprisonment or both.

Debbie Smith In "Fair" Condition

The condition of little Debbie Smith, one-year-old daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Smith Hunterstown, continued "fair" at the Warner Hospital today. She has been a patient there since last Tuesday's suffering from bruises of all parts of her body.

Richard Barnes, 35, W. High St., will get a hearing this afternoon at 3 o'clock on an aggravated assault and battery charge as a result of the child's injuries. The hearing will be before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Monday Is Registration Day For Nine-Week Summer 'Rec' Program In 5 Play Areas Here

Next Monday will be registration day at the five play areas in Gettysburg as a nine-week summer recreation program gets underway under the supervision of the Gettysburg Recreation Association.

Chester A. Hilger, Gettysburg's recreation director, announced the sections into which the children of the town have been divided for assignment to the various play areas and told of plans for minor league playground games, tennis instruction, a music program and swimming instruction.

Hilger also announced the personnel that will staff the various playlots. An arts and crafts program will be added as soon as a qualified instructor can be found, he said.

Town Sections Given

The recreation director said that all children living in the area bounded by the west side of Baltimore St. and the south side of Chambersburg St. and Buford Ave. should report to the Recreation Park. All tots, aged 5 through 8, will also report there.

Those living in the area bounded by the east side of Baltimore St. and the south side of York St. will report to the Keefeauver School grounds. Tots in that area should report to the Fourth St. play area.

All children living on the north side and north of Chambersburg and York Sts. will report to the college playground at the west end of W. Broadway. Tots there will go to the Stevens St. play area.

Plan Minor League

The nine-week recreation program will close August 15 while the tot lots will operate on an eight-week program, closing August 8.

Mr. Hilger said that Monday also will be registration day for the Minor League and all players will report to their respective play areas. Four teams will be formed and a schedule between playgrounds will be carried out. Two teams will be chosen from the playground to enter the Little League next year which will be expanded to six teams.

Emphasis will be placed upon tennis again this year and Robert Nicholson will supervise a tennis program every evening from 6 to 9 o'clock. Those interested in tennis are urged to get in touch with him at the Recreation Park.

Music Program Outlined

An instrumental music program again will be conducted this year by Robert Zeigler, band instructor at the high school. Those who are interested should contact him at the band room at the high school. "We would like to stress the fact," Mr. Hilger said, "that any child interested in taking music instruction will not be penalized for missing other activity by taking music instruction."

This description was given of the groups to be conducted and the schedules they will follow:

Beginners' band for those people who are already in an elementary band. It will rehearse Monday and Tuesday mornings at 8:30 o'clock. Beginners' group for those people who have taken only a few lessons on their instruments and for those who are interested in starting the study of an instrument. They will meet each Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Practice Times Listed

Pre-band Group No. 1 for those who are in their first book of instruction. They will meet each Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Pre-band Group No. 2, for those who are in their second book of instruction and soon should be ready for an elementary band. They will meet each Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Ensemble groups: Because of the popularity of certain instruments as cornet and clarinet, three groups will be formed for each of these instruments—An elementary group for those in their first year of playing, an intermediate group for those in their second or third years and an advanced group for those playing more than three years. This grouping, today's announcement said, should provide for those people of all ages or abilities including the high school age student. In the case of flutes, drums, saxes, horns, baritone and trombone and bass horns, two groups will be held for the varying stages of advancement.

To Play "For Fun"

The schedule for these ensemble groups follows: Monday at 9:30 a.m., elementary clarinets and at 11:30 a.m., elementary and intermediate horns and basses; Tuesday at 8:30 a.m., advanced horns and basses and at 11:30 a.m., intermediate and advanced drums; Wednesday at 8:30 a.m., intermediate clarinets; 9:30 a.m., advanced clarinets; 10:30 a.m., elementary and intermediate saxophones; and at 11:30 a.m., advanced saxophones; Thursday at 9:30 a.m., intermediate and elementary flutes; 10:30 a.m., advanced flutes, and 11:30 a.m., elementary and intermediate baritone and (Continued On Page 3)

GEN. TRUDEAU WILL SPEAK AT SERVICES HERE

Lt. Gen. Arthur Gilbert Trudeau, chief of research and development for the U. S. Army, will be the speaker at memorial services here June 29 opening the week-long observance of the 95th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

General Trudeau will speak in the Gettysburg High School auditorium at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, June 29. The U. S. Army band chorus will present a concert and Gen. Willard S. Paul, president of Gettysburg College, will introduce the speaker.

A week-long festival starting Monday evening, June 30, and extending through July 5 will be held at the Recreation Field.

Special Services

A special observance is planned on the afternoon of July 1 at General Reynolds statue, marking the 95th anniversary of the death of the distinguished Lancaster resident who was killed while commanding the Union troops on the first day of the battle here.

The annual parade will be held July 4.

William G. Weaver, of the special events committee which arranged the Sunday night program, said General Trudeau is a native of Middlebury, Vermont, July 5, 1902. He was graduated from West Point and became a second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers on June 12, 1924.

He served various posts with the engineers and in 1935 was special assistant administrator to General Hugh Johnson with the Works Progress Administration.

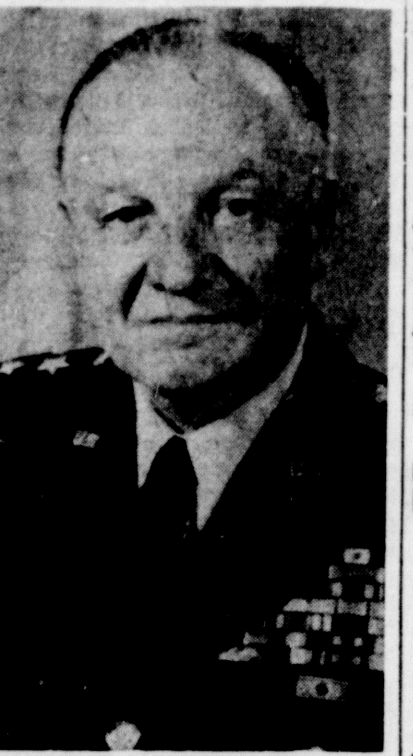

As an instructor at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth in 1941 he helped develop the then new program of amphibious assault operations.

Many Decorations

In 1942 he was named chief of staff of the Engineer Amphibious Command and helped train six amphibian brigades.

He was named chief of research and development for the Army effective April 1.

He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal with oak leaf cluster, the Legion of Merit, the Silver Star with oak leaf cluster, the Bronze Star and Army Commendation Ribbon, and has been decorated by foreign governments.

GENERAL TRUDEAU

receiving among others the Honor Star Order of the Award of Gordon of Ethiopia, the Cross of Officer of the Order of Leopold II of Belgium, the Order of the Rising Sun by Japan and the Order of Military Merit by Korea.

Good Weather Is Expected For Show

Good weather is forecast for the sixth annual Gettysburg Horse Show to be presented Sunday afternoon at the Gettysburg Riding Club grounds, north of the Fairfield Rd. The show will begin at 12:30 o'clock with 26 classes to be in competition.

The show is sponsored jointly by the Gettysburg Riding Club and the Gettysburg Rotary Club with the profits to go to the building fund of the Warner Hospital. Committees from the two sponsoring organizations have been in charge of preparations for the show.

Paddock Wins Honor In Land Judging

James Paddock, Gettysburg High School sophomore and elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Paddock, Gettysburg R. 2, was the only boy from Adams or Franklin Counties to win honors in land judging in the Future Farmers of America activities week contests at Pennsylvania State University earlier this week.

Paddock placed 14th among 51 boys from throughout the state and brought home a bronze certificate.

His name was inadvertently omitted from a list of eight other county winners.

Senator Charges Adams Loses Usefulness To Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan said today Sherman Adams "has lost his usefulness to the administration" unless he can account more fully for expensive favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

But despite a swelling political furor over President Eisenhower's top aide it seemed likely that no further explanation would be forthcoming for the time being.

Under persistent questioning by newsmen, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty yesterday refused to go beyond Adams' written explanation Thursday to a House subcommittee that earlier produced evidence Goldfine paid some $2,000 in Boston hotel bills for Adams over a four-year period.

Confidence In Adams

And Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower has complete confidence in Adams and has no intention of firing him.

In a letter to subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.), Adams acknowledged he had been a hotel guest of Goldfine in Boston and Plymouth, Mass. Describing

Scout Ceremonies At 6:30 This Evening

The public observance of Flag Day to be conducted this evening in Lincoln Square by the Boy Scout units of the town will take place at 6:30 o'clock instead of 6 p.m. as was announced Friday, scout leaders said today.

Explorer, Boy Scout and Cub units 73, 78 and 79 will take part. The ceremonies will be the first of the sort ever conducted here by the Boy Scouts but will be one of numerous such Scout ceremonies today throughout the Black Walnut District.

PROPERTIES SOLD

Miss Irene Buck has sold her property on W. Middle St. to Lloyd C. Gilbert, S. Washington St., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Roth, N. Stratton St., have bought the house in which they reside from Mrs. Addie Hamilton. Both sales were made by the Ramer Insurance and Real Estate Agency.

DEAN BURNABY TO OFFICIATE AT WEDDING ABROAD

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Dr. Mary Ann Nevins, assistant professor of English literature at New York's Vassar College, will be married here Monday to Dr. Leon Radzinowicz, director of the Department of Criminal Science of Cambridge University.

Dr. Nevins, 33, is the daughter of U. S. Army Gen. Arthur S. Nevins. He is superintendent of President Eisenhower's farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

The bride's mother is here for the wedding but Nevins was unable to come over. The U. S. military attaché in London, Brig. Gen. William H. Hennig, will give the bride away.

The service in the chapel of Trinity College of Cambridge University will be conducted by the dean, the Rev. John Burnaby.

"We are trying to make the service as simple as possible," said Dr. Nevins. "There won't be more than 20 persons in the chapel."

Reception On Tuesday

The wedding reception will be held Tuesday in the lodge of Lord Adrian, master of Trinity College and vice chancellor of Cambridge University. The couple will honeymoon in Italy.

Dr. Nevins, on leave from Vassar, has been in England since September doing research for a book on the life and works of Poet John Milton.

The 51-year-old groom was born in Poland. He came to Britain in 1938 and is now a British subject. Recognized as an authority on scientific and legal aspects of criminology, he was named to the Royal Commission on Capital Punishment and later was head of the social defense section of the United Nations in New York.

His first marriage was dissolved in 1955.

80 EXPECTED AT CONFERENCE HERE MONDAY

Approximately 80 students are expected to begin the 18th annual Summer Orientation Conference at the Lutheran Theological Seminary Monday morning. The conference, which began in 1941, is sponsored by the Board of Higher Education of the United Lutheran Church in America. Dr. Mildred E. Winston, secretary of the board, is dean of the conference. Special programs will be held today and Sunday for those already present.

The Board of Higher Education will place 103 students in 27 camps this summer. Students will come from 59 schools in the U. S., Canada, Puerto Rico, Philippines, Germany, and Latvia. The camps are welfare, leadership training and recreational.

Placing Students

Students are placed in homes for children, aged and handicapped, hospitals, settlement houses, rural and urban churches, all under the auspices of the United Lutheran Church. The various institutions range from New York to Minneapolis.

Dr. Winston reported that more than 600 students applied for placement in camp this year out of which 103 were chosen.

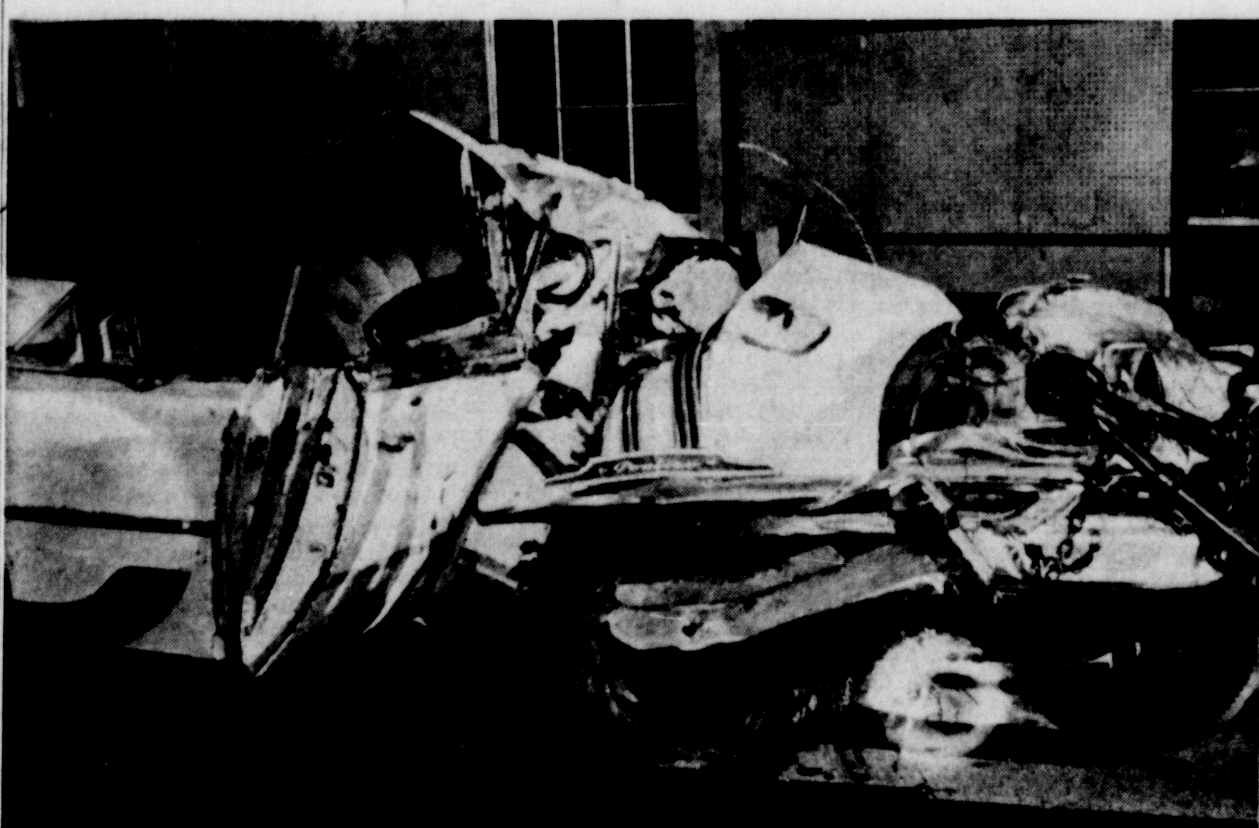

The purpose of the conference is to give students experience in practical vocational guidance and opportunity to serve the church. During the past 17 years, about 1,400 students have been placed.

The regular weekday class schedule includes the following: Bible study, religious education, welfare, films, discussions and field trips; song-fests, crafts and community life.

The co-educational students will open and close each day with prayers in the Church of Abiding Presence, Seminary Campus.

Ronald R. Hepfer, 22, Is Fatally Injured And Two Others Are In Critical Condition At Warner Hospital After Car Leaves Road And Strikes Tree On Fairfield Road Early Today

Ronald Richard Hepfer, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Hepfer, 7 Hanover St., died this morning as he reached the Warner Hospital about 1 a.m., a few minutes after he was injured in an auto crash on the Fairfield Rd. in which two companions were critically injured. The accident occurred just over Seminary Ridge.

In a critical condition in the Warner Hospital are: Morris R. Rummel Jr., 23, 222 E. Middle St., believed to have been the driver of the car.

Wayne Schutt, 18, 34 Baltimore St., the other passenger in the Rummel car. Schutt was graduated June 1 from Gettysburg High School.

Hepfer, who was found unconscious in the rear of the smashed auto, suffered a compound fracture of the skull, fractures of the right leg, the left upper arm and chest injuries.

Rummel and Schutt underwent emergency operations early this morning.

Both Rummel and Schutt were thrown out of the machine.

The crash occurred on the west slope of the Fairfield Rd. about 12:30 o'clock this morning as the Rummel car was being driven westward at what police say apparently was a "very high speed."

The car veered gradually off the right side of the road, reached roadside grass after 33 feet on the berm, travelled 99 feet before it struck and uprooted a tree and then came to rest against another tree and a pole.

The auto, a 1953 model Pontiac sedan, was demolished.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, and Borough Police Officers Paul B. Shearer and Daniel Miller are investigating the accident. Shearer is an uncle of the Schutt boy.

The Gettysburg ambulance was called to the scene and sent a radio call for borough police and for a second ambulance to take the victims to the hospital. Hepfer died as he was being carried into the hospital, officers said.

The investigation by Officer Shearer showed that all three young men had worked until 11 o'clock Friday evening. Rummel at the Hetrick garage, Schutt at the silk mill and Hepfer at the Victor Products company plant.

They met in Lincoln Square where Schutt left his motorcycle and Hepfer parked his car and joined Rummel for a ride in his auto.

Young Hepfer was born in Gettysburg attended the public schools and graduated from Gettysburg High School in 1954. He served three months in the U. S. Navy and had been employed as a press operator at the Victor Products Corporation.

He is survived by his parents. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Bender's Funeral Home with burial in the Evergreen Cemetery. His pastor, Rev. Harry Fehl, of the EUB Church, will officiate.

Friends may call at the funeral home Monday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock.

White Cherries On Farmers' Mart Today

Sugar peas sold for 30 and 35 cents a box; shell-on peas, 30 cents a quart; spinach, 15 a box or two for 25 cents; radishes and spring onions, 10 cents a bunch, lettuce, 10 and 15 cents a box; jellies, 35 cents a jar; cakes, $1 and $1.25 each; short cake for strawberries, 50 cents each.

George B. M. Baker, 38, Abbotstown R. 1, was apprehended Thursday by Hanover police on a court order and was lodged in the borough lockup to await escort to the York County jail.

President Golfs With Two Friends

President Eisenhower got in a round of golf late Friday afternoon after he drove to his farm from The White House with Mrs. Eisenhower. This morning the Chief Executive was on the Gettysburg Country Club course again with two friends, General Arthur S. Nevins and George E. Allen. The three teed off at 8:17 a.m.

White House correspondents and photographers traveling with the President include:

DeGaulle Asks Frenchmen For Hoarded Gold To Aid Regime

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle today sought a sound financial foundation for his political and colonial reform plans by asking his countrymen to dig hoarded money out of their mattresses.

France's World War II leader laid his prestige on the line last night in a nationwide radio-TV appeal for support for a new bond issue. He said backing it would mean a financial vote of confidence.

De Gaulle turned again to the problem of Algeria today.

He summoned Jacques Soustelle, political front man for the insurgent Algerian junta, after letting him wait two days for an appointment.

There was talk De Gaulle might reprimand Soustelle for the junta's attempts to dictate to the

WANT FEDERAL AID TO FIGHT GRASSHOPPERS

DENVER (AP) — Colorado launched an attack against grasshopper hordes Thursday, but Gov. Steve McNichols warned the action can be only a limited one unless large-scale federal aid is thrown into the fight.

The funds are needed, he said, to protect the 110-million-dollar wheat crop ripening on the high plains of eastern Colorado and for the hay crop needed to carry cattle through next winter.

Turned down by the White House Wednesday in an effort to have the region declared a disaster area eligible for civil defense funds, McNichols said he will appeal to the U.S. Department of Agriculture for part of 14 million dollars available for emergencies under the agricultural conservation program.

To Ask Million
McNichols announced he will ask the Legislature, when it meets Monday in emergency session, to appropriate up to a million and a half dollars for the struggle with the hoppers. This apparently would wipe out the surplus in the state's general fund.

Paul W. Swisher, state agriculture commissioner, reported the hopper infestation now covers more than 10 million acres in 21 counties.

The state agriculture department announced the start of a range spraying program, with five two-engine planes flying out of Cheyenne Wells, in east-central Colorado. It said nearly 500,000 acres will be covered in this cooperative venture at a cost of about 60 cents an acre.

SENATE PASSES PAY BOOST BILL BY VOICE VOTE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed Friday a compromise bill giving a 10 per cent pay boost to the government's 1,021,000 civil service and other employees.

Action came by voice vote adoption of a report agreed upon Thursday adjusting Senate and House differences over the legislation.

With the House in recess until Monday, final congressional action was put off until next week. The bill's annual cost is about $42 million dollars. But the first year cost will be closer to $60 million dollars since the boost is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said the bill will give all employees equal treatment. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) said the pay increase was modest compared to those given workers in private industry.

"Very Bad Policy"
But Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said it was "very bad policy" to grant retroactive pay increases. And Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) said Congress was contributing to inflation and setting a pay raise example for private industry. Sens. Carl T. Curtis (R-Nebr.) and John J. Williams (R-Dele) joined Lausche and Byrd in opposing the measure.

The bill covers not only regular classified civil service employees, but also employees of Congress, federal courts, foreign service, Atomic Energy Commission, and Veterans Administration medical service. Postal workers previously were given a 10 per cent raise. The bill permits creation of 599 new super-grade jobs. These pay from $13,000 to $19,000. It also gives the full 10 per cent raise to 67,000 scientists and engineers who had recently received raises because they were in hard-to-hire categories.

TV audience that buying bonds would be "the first proof of national confidence which you will give to yourselves and, allow me to say, which you would give to me who needs it so very, very much."

The bonds are bait for sorely needed foreign exchange. Present estimates are that France has enough reserves to continue foreign trade at its present rate for only two months.

The government promised legal immunity to Frenchmen who buy the bonds with gold, foreign currency and unregistered foreign stocks and bonds they have hoarded illegally.

De Gaulle described the future of France in glowing terms. He stressed the potential oil wealth of the Sahara, and technical and economic reawakening of French industry and the nation's expanding population.

"Let's go!" the 67-year-old soldier-premier cried with a concluding note of enthusiasm and hope. "The starting signal has been given."

The reasons for canceling their visas was not made public. The group has been traveling around Latin America for more than a month.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Engagement

Shafer-Gross

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gross, East Berlin, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Maxine Delores Gross, to William Ralph Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Shafer Jr., East Berlin R. 2. Miss Gross, who was graduated from East Berlin High School, on May 25, is employed at Lou's Cut-Rate Store in East Berlin. Her fiancé, a 1956 graduate of East Berlin High School, is employed by Doubleday and Co., Hanover.

World Briefs

HONG KONG (AP)—Western and Eastern superstitions coincided Friday.

The Western calendar's only Friday the 13th in 1958 is the Day of Kan—the Day of the Weapon—on the Chinese lunar calendar. It is a most unlucky day to give parties, do business, sign contracts, get married, or lend money.

It also is a day to avoid friendships if friendships are to be retained. Should two friends meet accidentally, each should pretend not to see the other. Done adroitly, this may fool the bad luck devils into believing no friendship exists, whereupon they race madly down the street in search of other victims.

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss Parliament approved a constitution amendment Friday to grant voting rights to women for the first time in Swiss history.

But so many deputies voted against the measure that the necessary approval in a subsequent all-male referendum seems doubtful.

To become effective, the measure requires approval in an October referendum by an over-all majority of the ww cantons (states).

PARIS (AP)—Lina Ulanova, the Communist world's greatest dancer, had a night off Thursday and went to see her first American ballet.

The star of Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet and the rest of her troupe attended the performance of the American Ballet Theater. It is the first time leading U.S. and Soviet ballet troupes have appeared simultaneously in a Western capital. So far, Paris critics have avoided comparisons.

BRUNSWICK, N.C. (AP)—This southeastern North Carolina community's four-year "vote-for-whom-you-please" election is being held today.

As has been the custom for many years, the ballot will contain the names of the town's 42 registered male voters. The man receiving the highest number of votes will become mayor, the next highest four will become the Town Council. There are 75 eligible voters. No woman's name is listed on the ballot, but write-ins are allowed.

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—An official for Carolina Trailway buses says tourists in the Smoky Mountain National Park stop their cars when they see bears crossing the highway. The bears stop to examine the tourists and traffic piles up. The buses sometimes are delayed as long as an hour, the official says.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan came home from a one-week visit to the United States and Canada today and said President Eisenhower has a standing invitation to return his call.

The prime minister looked tired but was in a confident mood when he landed on a flight from Ottawa, where he addressed the Canadian Parliament yesterday. Macmillan said he has no firm plans for seeing French Premier de Gaulle but would like to talk with him. "I know he is heavily engaged at the moment and a meeting in the immediate future might not be feasible," he added.

Gets Plate For Her Car As It Is Stolen

ATLANTA (AP)—An Atlanta woman purchased a new car yesterday and drove to the court-house to buy a license plate. When she came out the car was gone. Mrs. Clyde M. Lewis and police searched for more than an hour without success. Waiting at a corner for a taxi she saw the new car approaching and ran out in front of it. The car stopped and bystanders helped her hold the driver.

Patrolman E. C. Mitchell said William G. Hamilton, 44, of Monroe, Ga., was jailed for suspicion of auto theft. Mrs. Lewis tossed the new license plate in the new car and headed for home.

TWO YOUTHS ESCAPE
JESSUP, Md. (AP)—Two young inmates, one from Western Maryland and one from the Eastern Shore, escaped Wednesday from the dairy barn at the House of Correction. Reformatory officials said James Fortner, 19, Taneytown, and Milford Wilson, 21, Church Hill, were dressed in blue denim. Wilson had served five months of a one-year sentence imposed in Kent County for passing bad checks. Fortner had served a month and a half of a six-month sentence for larceny in Frederick County.

TIRED SENATORS BACK AT WORK ON LABOR BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weary senators return to the Capitol today to push ahead with votes on a labor control bill still lacking many features urged by President Eisenhower.

In a second successive 12-hour session yesterday, the senators beat back two major amendments urged by the administration, with the voting largely along party lines.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief author of the bill, predicted that far-reaching GOP amendments also would meet defeat today.

Two Hours Early
Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called the Senate into session two hours ahead of the usual time in an effort to win final passage by tonight. But there seemed a reasonable chance the debate would run into next week.

Forty-four new amendments were on senators' desk yesterday, and only two of these were disposed of during the day. Most of the amendments were from the Republicans.

The first up for a vote today was another amendment offered by the Eisenhower administration and strongly opposed by union leaders.

Mostly Unchanged
It provides that a union shall lose its right to be certified as bargaining agent and to use National Labor Relations Board procedures unless it files financial reports required by the bill.

Kennedy said this amounted to an effort to penalize rank-and-file union members for the sins of their officers. His bill provides criminal penalties against officers who fail to file the reports.

Would Modify T-H
The major provisions of the bill remained essentially unchanged after the two days of debate. These would set up union democracy procedures, including secret elections, and require detailed public financial reporting by the larger unions, and their officers.

The measure also would modify the Taft-Hartley Act to meet long-standing union complaints. These provisions would repeal the requirement for filing non-Communist affidavits by union officers, permit prehire arrangements for construction unions, and allow strikers to vote in a bargaining election after they have been replaced.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) still had several administration amendments to offer. However, Secretary of Labor Mitchell said yesterday he was abandoning one of his demands for this session—a proposal to tighten loopholes in the Taft-Hartley ban on secondary boycotts which affect neutrals in a labor dispute. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California told a reporter he definitely would offer the two major amendments he has proposed.

One would require a membership vote before a union could strike, if 20 per cent of the rank-and-file members ask for such a vote. The other would permit 20 per cent of the members to force a referendum on recall of union officers or on a change in a union's constitution, by-laws or regulations.

Robert C. Neely Is Buried Friday

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Allison Funeral Home, Fairfield, for Robert C. Neely, 73, a retired rural mail carrier who died suddenly Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at his home of a cerebral hemorrhage. Rev. Harry S. Ecker and Rev. Edwin P. Elliot, former and present pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, officiated. Interment was in the Fairfield Union Cemetery.

The pallbearers were George, Henry, James, Robert U. Neely, Daniel Teeter and Robert Willis.

BEMILLER RITES HELD

Funeral services for Miss Ruthanna M. Bemiller, 55, of Silver Run, who died on Friday morning, were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. George E. Bowers, McSherrystown, officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Union Cemetery, Silver Run. Serving as pallbearers were Albert Bemiller, Robert D. DeGroot, J. Donald Lemmon, Leonard Bankert, Melvin Bankert and Edward Wantz.

LIONS TO MEET

Gettysburg Lions will meet Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the Shetter House. Committee chairmen will be called upon for final reports for the club year which closes this month. President Donald A. Ulrich will preside.

5 SETS OF TWINS

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Twins average only once in every 87 births but Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Scully of Erie make the odds look bad. They had their fifth set of twins June 5.

Scully, 41, branch manager for Bearing Inc. in Erie, and his wife, Betty, celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary Sunday. They have 10 children with the new set of twin boys.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Upper Adams County Lions Club will observe Ladies' Night Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the Log Cabin Inn, Caledonia. After the dinner, members and guests will attend the play, "Affairs of State," at the Totem Pole Playhouse.

Miss Judy Crist, Guernsey, is spending the summer at French Creek State Park, Pa., where she is a counselor at the Girl Scout camp.

The Rev. Norman L. Marden, pastor of the Bendersville Methodist Church, will attend the annual meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church which opens at 1:30 p.m. next Wednesday and closes at 4:30 the following Sunday afternoon. The meeting will be held in the Allison Memorial Church, Carlisle.

Thirty members and children of the Butler Twp. Home Extension group held a covered dish picnic Friday afternoon at the Bendersville Park. After the picnic, games were played.

Mrs. Blaine Walter, Mrs. Robert Lott and Mrs. Earl Carey, of the Biglerville Garden Club, attended a board meeting of District 4 of Federated Garden Clubs held at May Hill, home of Mrs. Carl May, East Berlin R. D., Thursday. All federated clubs were represented. Mrs. C. P. Conrad, Lemoyne, director of the district, presided at the meeting. Plans were made for the fall district meeting which will be held in Carlisle on October 15. All members of federated clubs are invited to attend the luncheon and illustrated talk on "Table Setting" by Mrs. A. F. Stuebing, Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh. The Carlisle Garden Club will be host.

The Chestnut Hill Home and Garden Club met for a covered dish supper Wednesday evening in the club room at the home of Mrs. John Hartlaub, Aspers R. 1. There were 15 members and guests present. Mrs. J. McGlynn, Biglerville, gave an illustrated talk on flower arranging.

Daily Vacation Bible School will begin at Flohr's Lutheran Church, Littlestown, Monday morning at 9 o'clock and will continue for a period of two weeks, Monday through Friday, from 9 to 11 a.m. Kindergarten, Primary and Junior Classes will be held.

The Upper Adams Young Farmers Association sponsored a local farm tour Thursday evening. The group first met at 6 p.m. at the farm of Harold Garretson, Bendersville, and observed strawberries interplanted in dwarf apple trees. They then went to the Donald Weaver farm, Aspers R. 1, and observed mulched apple trees; Norman Blocher farm, Aspers R. 1, and observed caged laying hens and a farm mechanics shop; Franklin Ryman, Aspers, where they observed Gehl forage self-unloading wagons and forage improvement; Donald Heckenluber farm, Biglerville R. 1, new pole turkey house; Myles E. Starnes, Aspers R. 1, weed control in trees and small fruits. The group continued to the South Mountain Fairgrounds where refreshments were served and oral reports given as follows: Orville McBeth, "Oats and Corn Weed Spraying"; Paul Pitzer, "Adams County Corn Club Program"; Robert Taylor, "Phygon Sprays for Strawberries." The refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lady and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rice.

TWO AMERICAN PRIESTS BEING FREED BY REDS

HONG KONG (AP) — Peiping radio announced the release today of the last two American Catholic priests imprisoned in Communist China.

The Rev. Joseph P. McCormack of the Maryknoll Seminary, Ossining, N.Y., and the Rev. John P. Wagner of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago, Ill., were released at Shanghai, the broadcast said.

They were freed "on the expiration of their prison terms," the broadcast said. The two priests were arrested June 15, 1953, and sentenced to five years in prison on Communist charges of espionage.

There was no immediate indication when — or even if — the two priests might leave China.

Their release leaves four Americans known to be still in Chinese Communist jails on spy charges. They are businessmen Robert E. McCann of Altadena, Calif., Hugh Francis Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., John Thomas Downey, a civilian employee of the U.S. Army from New Britain, Conn., and Richard George Fecteau, also an Army employee, from Lynn, Mass.

Third In Shanghai
A third American Catholic priest, Bishop James Edward Welsh of Cumberland, Md., is still in Shanghai. He has been held under various forms of house arrest and detention but never been imprisoned as far as is known.

Bishop Welsh long has been reported free to leave China if he wants to. In 1955 he told a British newspaperwoman in Shanghai, "My work, my post is here. I want to stay if I can."

Peiping radio said Father McCormack was arrested for espionage consisting of "collecting Chinese political and economic information under the cover of being a priest." The broadcast said Father Wagner was arrested "for sabotaging China's financial ordinance."

Their release today had been expected, since the Chinese Communists have in the past been punctual about releasing American prisoners at the ends of their terms.

Both priests received their religious training in the United States, although Father McCormack, 65, was born in Ireland. Father McCormack's Catholic mission at Fushun, Manchuria, was overrun by Japanese troops early in World War II and he was repatriated to the United States in August 1942.

He returned to Manchuria after the war but Communist advances there forced him to withdraw to China proper. In 1951 he moved to Shanghai. He was arrested there with seven other missionaries in 1953.

SAYS ANIMALS REACT LIKE MEN TO BOOZE, DOPE

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — A drunkard acts like a drunkard, even if he's a lamb and the same thing goes if he's a dog, mule, pig, ape or bug.

Any of them, just like human beings, can become chronic alcoholics, says Dr. Maurice Pruitt, an expert on the subject.

And the denizens of the animal kingdom react in about the same way — bad.

Dope Fiends, Too
Pruitt, of Chattanooga, Tenn., a specialist in treating addiction to drugs or alcohol, has amassed many case histories of animal dope fiends, and boozers.

"The cases contradict the old opinion that addiction arises from moral or psychological deficiencies," he said, citing the scientific point of his studies.

"People—or animals—drink today because they drank yesterday. It's a physical affliction — not a character defect."

Birds And Bees, Also
To back up his position, Pruitt trots out a whole stable of instances in which nature's simple beasts become sots and drug-cravers, with accompanying habits of riotous living.

"Their reactions are very similar to that in man," he said. "They forsake their responsibilities."

Even the birds and bees do it, as well as the ordinarily industrious ant, he said in an interview.

As for the bees, Pruitt told of some hives in Tennessee that began feeding on a moonshiner's still.

Ants Fell Victims
"As a result," he said, "they neglected their work, didn't gather enough honey, and when winter came, they began dying out."

A similar fate befell a den of ants, he related, that became addicted to intoxicating "honey-dew" from a store of plant aphids and butterfly larva. He told, too, of a whiskey-thirsting Tennessee mule, of a morphine-addicted coon, hard-drinking pigeons, and of a dog that would break into a doctor's office to get dope.

"They get it if they can," he said.

There are the Malayan orangutans, usually faithful spouses, who get to be sowers of a "durian fruit" and turn pugnacious and promiscuous.

"I heard of one bunch of pigs that kept breaking into a still," he said. "I don't know what it proves unless it that pigs were making people out of themselves."

13 SEMINARY PROFESSORS ARE "FIRED"

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The embattled president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary expressed distress yesterday at the loss of close to one third of his faculty members.

Thirteen professors at the seminary were fired by the board of trustees Thursday as the climax to a long-simmering controversy concerning administrative policies.

Those dismissed included many long-time faculty members, among them Dr. Theron Price, widely noted church historian, and Dr. William H. Morton, who has directed archaeological work of the American Schools of Oriental Research at Jerusalem.

Door Left Open
The faculty group opposed policies under which the seminary president, Dr. Duke K. McCall, had control of administrative decisions with the board of trustees. The dissident group wanted the faculty to have more voice.

Dr. McCall said he was distressed to "lose the services of those good men."

The rest of the faculty issued a statement renewing its support of Dr. McCall.

The trustees said the 13 were dismissed because it appeared they could not be reconciled to the administrative policy. They left the door open for rehiring of any who felt they could work under the present setup.

PARATROOPERS TO HELP WITH CYPRUS CURFEW

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — British paratroopers flew to this tense island colony today to reinforce troops maintaining a tight curfew after communal fighting took 15 lives.

An airlift of 500 paratroopers began at dawn in England and was scheduled to be completed by tomorrow. The total number of new soldiers is now more than 1,000.

The additional troops are expected to be in position beside 10,000 British soldiers already here when the British government announces plans for Cyprus' future on Monday or Tuesday.

100 Per. Curfew
The announcement might touch off new fighting between Cypriots of Greek and of Turkish descent. The 400,000 Greeks have long campaigned for independence and a chance to join Greece. The 100,000 Turks oppose union with Greece and would rather have the island partitioned if the British leave.

After Thursday's clash near Nicosia, British Gov. Sir Hugh Foot clamped down a 100 per cent curfew, keeping indoors even such pass holders as doctors, civil servants and reporters.

The curfew will continue "until sense returns to the people," said Maj. Gen. Douglas Kendrew, director of British military operations.

Britain's new plan is understood to call for wide measures of local self government in hope of persuading both Greeks and Turks to postpone their conflicting demands, but would retain British control of this crown colony for at least seven to 10 years.

Degree At Temple

Donald L. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wright Jr. of Benderville, N.Y., received his B.A. degree, majoring in mathematics, at the commencement exercises at Temple University, Philadelphia, on Thursday. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army and will report for duty in January.

During his four years at Temple he was a member of the Diamond Band, Diamond Honor Society, Scabbard and Blade, IF Sports, IF Council, Freshman Camp staff, commander of Diamond Rifle drill team, Sigma Pi, Lambda Tau Sigma, DMS of ROTC and was also chosen as one of the "Outstanding Seniors."

Airliner, Jets Miss Collision

DENVER (AP) — The pilot of a United Air Lines DC6 airliner with 53 persons aboard said his plane narrowly missed a collision with three unidentified jet aircraft over the Rocky Mountains late yesterday.

Capt. J. C. Moody of Denver said he took evasive action to avoid a possible collision shortly after taking off from Salt Lake City. He said the three jets passed under his four-engine airliner. He did not indicate by what margin he escaped a possible collision.

A UAL spokesman said a report of the incident will be made to the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The emphasis on all the above ensemble groups, Mr. Zeigler said, will be on playing music for "the fun of it."

A registration period will be held on Monday morning from 8:30 o'clock until 12:30 p.m. in the high school band room for any person not sure of the group or groups he may wish to attend. All persons sure of their groups should report on schedule on Tuesday.

The first week classes will meet in the high school band room. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to hold future classes at the Rec Park.

Staff Nearly Complete
A swimming program will be conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Jack Bream at the college pool. There will be instruction for non-swimmers as well as recreational swimming. The swimming program will be open only to those who are registered and participating in the playground program.

The organized and supervised Recreation Park programs will be conducted by Howard Shoemaker and Robert Nicholson. Mrs. Alice Theall will supervise the Tot program. She will be assisted by Miss Sandra Holoka. Mrs. Kathleen Trostle will conduct an afternoon program and supervise the sand box and swing area each evening from 6 to 9 p.m.

At the Keefeauver play area, the program will be supervised by Dale Hallberg in the mornings and afternoons. Mrs. Jack Bream will assist Mr. Hallberg each afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m.

At the college play area, Richard Allison will supervise the program each morning and afternoon. He will be assisted by Mrs. Ann Eicholtz each afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m.

Need Arts, Crafts Leader
At the Fourth St. lot, Miss Donna Wolf will conduct the program each morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. She will be assisted by Miss Shirley Fox.

The Barlow-Stevens St. Tot lots will have Misses Jo Anne Kratzert and Joanne Salem substituting a week for Mrs. Anne Eicholtz who will take charge on June 23. Mrs. Eicholtz will be teaching school for the week of June 16.

The arts and crafts program will be started as soon as a qualified instructor is found. Any person qualified in this field should get in touch with Mr. Hilger.

Although the formal recreation program will close August 15, the Recreation park will be kept open and will be supervised on an informal basis until August 29.

THREE PARTIES ARE OUTLAWED FOR LEBANESE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's pro-Western government has outlawed three opposition political parties which began a rebellion five weeks ago.

The government of Premier Sami Solh accused the parties yesterday of undermining the security of this east Mediterranean republic.

Lebanon has charged that President Nasser's United Arab Republic is aiding the rebels seeking to overthrow the government. Both the U.A.R. and rebel leaders deny this.

Hundreds Killed
But Arab sources have reported that Egyptians and Syrians of the U.A.R. are directing rebel forces in the Basta Moslem quarter of Beirut.

Although hundreds of persons have been killed in street and mountain warfare since May 10, Solh has been hesitant about taking a firm stand against the predominantly Moslem opposition.

He has been fearful of splitting open this half-Moslem, half-Christian nation. The Lebanese army, most of whose officers are Christians, has been thrown into the battle only in recent days after police forces proved unable to paralyze this commercial nation.

Continue Firm Policy
Outlawing the parties was a continuation of the firm policy adopted with use of the army and an appeal to the U.N. Security Council to stop alleged U.A.R. intervention.

The parties are the National and the National Council parties, plus the largest, the Socialist Progressive of Druse tribal chieftain Kamal Jumblatt.

The Security Council has ordered an observation group to seal Lebanon's borders against alleged U.A.R. interference.

whether Adams swung federal favors for his Boston friend.

So far, there has been no evidence on the subcommittee record as to whether Adams helped Goldfine in troubles with the Federal Trade Commission Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill.), who has called for Adams' resignation, said there is no special need now for the Harris subcommittee to concentrate on what further favors Adams may have received.

Received Some Gifts
"He has already admitted to receiving quite substantial gifts," said Mack, a subcommittee member.

Mack said the point is to show that Adams intervened from his important White House job to help Goldfine — a point Mack contended is already indicated by the record.

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, decried Adams' acceptance of Goldfine's hotel hospitality in Boston.

This "seems to indicate that some people can get favors through the President's office, and some can't," Stevenson said. "I have heard pious preaching by Mr. Adams . . . this isn't the first instance of hypocrisy in the administration."

But Republican Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara of Minnesota, a senior Republican on the Harris subcommittee, said Adams' explanation dispelled the charges. Republican Rep. Perkins Bass of Adams' home state of New Hampshire, accused the subcommittee of "indulging in character assassination at its worst." But under questioning, Bass said he himself would not have made the contacts with agencies that Adams did "and looking at it in retrospect I'm sure he wouldn't have."

Littlestown Boys At York Banquet

Paul A. Bowman and Robert Hahn, members of Littlestown Explorer Post No. 84, attended a career banquet at the Yorktown Hotel, York, on Thursday evening. The banquet honored all boys who have attained the rank of Eagle Scout or Silver Award in Scouting during the past year, covering the York-Adams area. Bowman and Hahn represented the Black Walnut District. There were 33 boys in attendance. Each boy, in advance, have his preference of what he wished to do when he was finished high school and then a sponsor was secured who has been in the same field and is successful at the same type of work. The sponsor for Paul Bowman was George Seacrist, a member of the Pennsylvania State University faculty; sponsor for Robert Hahn was Lt. Col. John E. Blake, jet pilot at the Olmsted Air Force Base.

At the banquet, each boy presented the Sons of the American Revolution Good Citizenship Medal and also the citation, with the medals being pinned on the Explorers by their sponsors. Station WGAL-TV of Lancaster took movies of the affair, which were shown at 11:15 p.m. on the Thursday news telecast. The boys were accompanied to York by their mothers, Mrs. Paul M. Bowman, and son, John, and Mrs. Kathryn Hahn, and son, Charles.

SEARCH FOREST FOR LOST PLANE

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas police picked up airman Donald Keeton, 19, at his mother's home here this morning, dispatcher Mrs. L. C. Cantrell said. The airman had been missing since Thursday when he took off in a light plane from Gulfport, Miss., after leaving a note saying he contemplated suicide because of a broken romance.

Mrs. Cantrell said he was picked up just before 5 a.m. and was brought to the police station. She said a squad went to the house to find whether the youth's mother had heard from him before a more intensive search was launched today. She said the squad found him there and brought him to the station.

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Weary searchers hunted pine forests and tried to track down rumors today in search of an airman who vanished in a light plane after leaving a note saying he contemplated suicide over a broken heart.

Nothing of Donald Keeton was found after he made a hurried stop near Longview, Tex., Thursday. Likewise futile was a "plea to please come home, Don," from his childhood sweetheart, the girl who had refused to marry him.

Leaves Suicide Note
Keeton, 19, left a suicide note before going aloft in the rented plane Thursday morning at Gulfport, Miss. He made a brief stop at Alexandria, La., and later was sighted over Shreveport, La.

Thursday afternoon he landed at a private airport in east Texas and asked for gas, then took off west toward Dallas.

The airman was stationed at Keesler AFB near Gulfport. Doris Bowling, 17, of Dallas, his former sweetheart, said "I feel terrible" for having twice consented to marry Keeton and then changing her mind in the belief she was too young.

U. S. INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION UP 1ST TIME IN MAY

By JOHN H. AVERILL
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. industrial production took an upswing last month for the first time since June last year.

The Federal Reserve Board, reporting this yesterday, said the index of output for the nation's factories, mines and mills rose by one point from April to May. This brought the index to 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average — still 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points below the record high of December 1956.

The board's report was another indication that May was the best business month since the recession began last fall.

Lost Fight On Tax Cut
Meanwhile Secretary of Labor Mitchell confirmed that he and Vice President Nixon waged a losing fight within the administration for proposing a tax cut to Congress.

Asked at a news conference if he and Nixon had lost the argument to Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and the Federal Reserve Board, Mitchell said:

"I'll say this. Vice President Nixon and I said publicly on several occasions we favored a tax cut. The administration has not favored one."

Still Favored It
Queried whether he still favors tax reduction, Mitchell said he does.

In another economic development, the Labor Department reported that unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits dropped during the week ending May 31 by 65,300 to the lowest level since Jan. 4.

It was the seventh consecutive week the department has reported a decline and brought the total of insured unemployment down to 2,827,600.

Some New Layoffs
Another decline also was reported in initial claims for unemployment benefits, an indicator of new layoffs among covered workers. The department said initial claims dropped by 16,500 during the week ended June 7 to a new 1958 low of 321,600.

The Reserve Board indicated May's business upturn continued into early June.

It noted a pickup in private housing starts and department store sales during May and said sales of new cars, while still low, reached a new high for the year during March.

Makes Prediction
On a related front, Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, economic research director for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, was asked at a Chamber symposium when he expects the recession to end.

"Once people are convinced that we are at the bottom, that there will be no more layoffs, they will start buying and the recession will begin to end. This will happen before the end of this year," he said.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Hetie Craddock showed up for work wearing a chemise dress. Her co-workers admired her choice of clothes. Then Mrs. Craddock disclosed she found the dress in an attic trunk. It was made in 1924.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Tom Kirtley, who has made 51 parachute jumps without a scratch, intended to take part in an exhibition drop, but a little accident at home spoiled his plans. Kirtley slipped on the back porch steps, breaking a leg.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — He lost his hands and feet in the Korean War, but Ed Reeves says today, "I'm just plain lucky."

Reeves, 26, is one of 17 handicapped students among 2,958 to be awarded degrees today in University of Illinois commencement exercises.

At 19, Reeves was an infantryman fighting the Chinese Communists at the Chosin Reservoir in December 1950. He was captured and left for dead. For two days he lay in 27-below zero cold until U.S. Marines found him.

"Look What I've Got"
His frozen feet and most of his hands were removed by surgery.

What sort of luck was that? "Well," said Reeves, of Wilmington, Ill., his eyes roving his compact mobile home eight years later. "Look what I've got."

He smiled at his wife, Beverly Jean, whom he married in September 1951, and his daughters, Michelle Lee, 4, and Melody Sue, who will be 2 in August.

A $9,000 fund raised by well-wishers while he lay in Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., helped Reeves and his wife get a start.

He receives an unspecified amount of disability pension, and the GI Bill has paid for his schooling and part of his living expenses.

He walks on artificial feet and has some grip in his hands. He has a summer job selling mobile homes, but he's dubious of his sales ability.

To Get Master's
Now that he has a bachelor's degree, Reeves plans to continue and get a masters in vocational counseling.

What about his handicap? "It isn't so much. I'm better off than lots of people that way," Reeves said.

"Everybody has his troubles. With mine, I've had a good share of luck."

TRUJILLO JR. GETS PROMOTION IN HOMELAND

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., who got a major's commission at the age of three in the Dominican Republic, still is advancing up the military ladder.

Now 29 and attending the U.S. Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., he may not graduate with his class next Friday but he will head a new combined chiefs of staff when he gets home.

Although he cannot fly a plane, his present title is commander of the Dominican air force.

His uncle, Dominican President Hector B. Trujillo, announced yesterday that the combined chiefs were being set up to better coordinate the army, navy and air force.

The general said last month he plans to go back to Hollywood to court film star Kim Novak some more on his way home after his class graduates.

A free spending two-month sojourn in Hollywood during the spring interrupted Trujillo's classwork and aroused criticism in Congress.

Not Spending Aid
He gave costly sports cars to Miss Novak and Zsa Zsa Gabor, and also gave Miss Gabor a mink coat. But he denied that any of the money he spent came from U.S. foreign aid funds.

Rep. Charles B. Brownson (R-Ind.) said yesterday the Army advised him that "Lt. Gen. Trujillo did not successfully complete the course. Therefore he will not be issued a certificate of graduation but will be given a certificate of attendance only."

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — A drunkard acts like a drunkard, even if he's a lamb. And the same thing goes if he's a dog, mule, pig, ape or bug.

Any of them, just like human beings, can become chronic alcoholics, says Dr. Maurice Pruitt, an expert on the subject.

And the denizens of the animal kingdom react in about the same way — bad.

Dope Fiends, Too

Pruitt, of Chattanooga, Tenn., a specialist in treating addiction to drugs or alcohol, has amassed many case histories of animal dope fiends, and boozers.

"The cases contradict the old opinion that addiction arises from moral or psychological deficiencies," he said, citing the scientific point of his studies.

"People—or animals—drink today because they drank yesterday. It's a physical affliction — not a character defect."

Birds And Bees, Also

To back up his position, Pruitt trots out a whole stable of instances in which nature's simple beasts become sots and drug-cravers, with accompanying habits of riotous living.

"Their reactions are very similar to that in man," he said. "They forsake their responsibilities."

Even the birds and bees do it, as well as the ordinarily industrious ant, he said in an interview.

As for the bees, Pruitt told of some hives in Tennessee that began feeding on a moonshiner's still.

Ants Fell Victims

"As a result," he said, "they neglected their work, didn't gather enough honey, and when winter came, they began dying out."

A similar fate befell a den of ants, he related, that became addicted to intoxicating "honeydew" from a store of plant aphids and butterfly larva. He told, too, of a whiskey-thirsting Tennessee mule, of a morphine-addicted coon, hard-drinking pigeons, and of a dog that would break into a doctor's office to get dope.

"They get it if they can," he said.

There are the Malayan orangutangs, usually faithful spouses, who get to be souses of a "durian fruit" and turn pugnacious and promiscuous.

"I heard of one bunch of pigs that kept breaking into a still," he said. "I don't know what it proves unless it's that pigs were making people out of themselves."

13 SEMINARY PROFESSORS ARE "FIRED"

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The embattled president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary expressed distress yesterday at the loss of close to one third of his faculty members.

Thirteen professors at the seminary were fired by the board of trustees Thursday as the climax to a long-simmering controversy concerning administrative policies.

Those dismissed included many long-time faculty members, among them Dr. Theron Price, widely noted church historian, and Dr. William H. Morton, who has directed archaeological work of the American Schools of Oriental Research at Jerusalem.

The faculty group opposed policies under which the seminary president, Dr. Duke K. McCall, had control of administrative decisions with the board of trustees.

The dissident group wanted the faculty to have more voice.

Dr. McCall said he was distressed to "lose the services of those good men."

The trustees said the 13 were dismissed because it appeared they could not be reconciled to the administrative policy. They left the door open for rehiring of any who felt they could work under the present setup.

PARATROOPERS TO HELP WITH CYPRUS CURFEW

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — British paratroopers flew to this island colony today to reinforce troops maintaining a tight curfew after communal fighting took 15 lives.

An airlift of 500 paratroopers began at dawn in England and was scheduled to be completed by tomorrow. The total number of new soldiers is now more than 1,000.

The additional troops are expected to be in position beside 10,000 British soldiers already here when the British government announces plans for Cyprus' future on Monday or Tuesday.

100 Pet. Curfew

The announcement might touch off new fighting between Cypriots of Greek and of Turkish descent. The 400,000 Greeks have long campaigned for independence and a chance to join Greece. The 100,000 Turks oppose union with Greece and would rather have the island partitioned if the British leave.

After Thursday's clash near Nicosia, British Gov. Sir Hugh Foot clamped down a 100 per cent curfew, keeping indoors even such pass holders as doctors, civil servants and reporters.

The curfew will continue "until sense returns to the people," said Maj. Gen. Douglas Kendrew, director of British military operations.

Britain's new plan is understood to call for wide measures of local self government in hope of persuading both Greeks and Turks to postpone their conflicting demands, but would retain British control of this crown colony for at least seven to 10 years.

Degree At Temple

Donald L. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wright Jr., Bendersville, received his B.A. degree, majoring in mathematics, at the commencement exercises at Temple University, Philadelphia, on Thursday. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army and will report for duty in January.

During his four years at Temple he was a member of the Diamond Band, Diamond Honor Society, Scabbard and Blade, IF Sports, IF Council, Freshman Camp staff, commander of Diamond Rifle drill team, Sigma Pi, Lambda Tau Sigma, DMS of ROTC and was also chosen as one of the "Outstanding Seniors."

Airliner, Jets Miss Collision

DENVER (AP) — The pilot of a United Air Lines DC6 airliner with 53 persons aboard said his plane narrowly missed a collision with three unidentified jet aircraft over the Rocky Mountains late yesterday.

Capt. J. C. Moody of Denver said he took evasive action to avoid a possible collision shortly after taking off from Salt Lake City. He said the three jets passed under his four-engine airliner. He did not indicate by what margin he escaped a possible collision.

A UAL spokesman said a report of the incident will be made to the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

trombones, and Friday, at 8:30 a.m., intermediate cornets; 9:30, advanced cornets; 10:30, elementary cornets, and 11:30, advanced baritone and trombones.

The emphasis on all the above ensemble groups, Mr. Zeigler said, will be on playing music for "the fun of it."

A registration period will be held on Monday morning from 8:30 o'clock until 12:30 p.m. in the high school band room for any person not sure of the group or groups he may wish to attend. All persons sure of their groups should report on schedule on Tuesday.

The first week classes will meet in the high school band room. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to hold future classes at the Rec Park.

Staff Nearly Complete

A swimming program will be conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Jack Bream at the college pool. There will be instruction for non-swimmers as well as recreational swimming. The swimming program will be open only to those who are registered and participating in the playground program.

The organized and supervised Recreation Park programs will be conducted by Howard Shoemaker and Robert Nicholson. Mrs. Alice Theall will supervise the Tot program. She will be assisted by Miss Sandra Holoka. Mrs. Kathleen Trostle will conduct an afternoon program and supervise the sand box and swing area each evening from 6 to 9 p.m.

At the Keefeauver play area, the program will be supervised by Dale Halberg in the mornings and afternoons. Mrs. Jack Bream will assist Mr. Halberg each afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m.

At the college play area, Richard Allison will supervise the program each morning and afternoon. He will be assisted by Mrs. Ann Eicholtz each afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m.

Need Arts, Crafts Leader

At the Fourth St. lot, Miss Donna Wolf will conduct the program each morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. She will be assisted by Miss Shirley Fox.

The Barlow-Stevens St. Tot lots will have Misses Jo Anne Kratzert and Joanne Salem substituting a week for Mrs. Anne Eicholtz who will take charge on June 23. Mrs. Eicholtz will be teaching school for the week of June 16.

The arts and crafts program will be started as soon as a qualified instructor is found. Any person qualified in this field should get in touch with Mr. Hilger.

Although the formal recreation program will close August 15, the Recreation park will be kept open and will be supervised on an informal basis until August 29.

THREE PARTIES ARE OUTLAWED FOR LEBANESE

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's pro-Western government has outlawed three opposition political parties which began a rebellion five weeks ago.

The government of Premier Sami Solh accused the parties yesterday of undermining the security of this east Mediterranean republic.

Lebanon has charged that President Nasser's United Arab Republic is aiding the rebels seeking to overthrow the government. Both the U.A.R. and rebel leaders deny this.

Hundreds Killed

But Arab sources have reported that Egyptians and Syrians of the U.A.R. are directing rebel forces in the Basta Moslem quarter of Beirut.

Although hundreds of persons have been killed in street and mountain warfare since May 10, Solh has been hesitant about taking a firm stand against the predominantly Moslem opposition.

He has been fearful of splitting open this half-Moslem, half-Christian nation. The Lebanese army, most of whose officers are Christians, has been thrown into the battle only in recent days after police forces proved unable to end fighting which has virtually paralyzed this commercial nation.

Continue Firm Policy

Outlawing the parties was a continuation of the firm policy adopted with use of the army and an appeal to the U.N. Security Council to stop alleged U.A.R. intervention.

The parties are the National and the National Council parties, plus the largest, the Socialist Progressive of Druse tribal chieftain Kamal Jumblatt.

The Security Council has ordered an observation group to seal Lebanon's borders against alleged U.A.R. interference.

whether Adams swung federal favors for his Boston friend.

So far, there has been no evidence on the subcommittee record as to whether Adams helped Goldfine in troubles with the Federal Trade Commission and Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill.), who has called for Adams' resignation, said there is no special need now for the Harris subcommittee to concentrate on what further favors Adams may have received.

Received Some Gifts

"He has already admitted to receiving quite substantial gifts," said Mack, a subcommittee member. Mack said the point is to show that Adams intervened from his important White House job to help Goldfine — a point Mack contended is already indicated by the record.

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, decried Adams' acceptance of Goldfine's hotel hospitality in Boston.

This "seems to indicate that some people can get favors through the President's office, and some can't," Stevenson said. "I have heard pious preaching by Mr. Adams . . . this isn't the first instance of hypocrisy in the administration."

But Republican Rep. Joseph E. O'Hara of Minnesota, a senior Republican on the Harris subcommittee, said Adams' explanation dispelled the charges. Republican Rep. Perkins Bass of Adams' home state of New Hampshire, accused the subcommittee of "indulging in character assassination at its worst." But under questioning, Bass said he himself would not have made the contacts with agencies that Adams did "and looking at it in retrospect I'm sure he wouldn't have."

Littlestown Boys At York Banquet

Paul A. Bowman and Robert Hahn, members of Littlestown Explorer Post No. 84, attended a career banquet at the Yorktown Hotel, York, on Thursday evening. The banquet honored all boys who have attained the rank of Eagle Scout or Silver Award in Scouting during the past year, covering the York-Adams area. Bowman and Hahn represented the Black Walnut District. There were 33 boys in attendance. Each boy, in advance, have his preference of what he wished to do when he was finished high school and then a sponsor was secured who has been in the same field and is successful at the same type of work. The sponsor for Paul Bowman was George Seacrest, a member of the Pennsylvania State University faculty; sponsor for Robert Hahn was Lt. Col. John E. Blake, jet pilot at the Olmsted Air Force Base.

At the banquet, each boy presented received the Sons of the American Revolution Good Citizenship Medal and also the citation, with the medals being pinned on the Explorers by their sponsors. Station WGBA-TV of Lancaster took movies of the affair, which were shown at 11:15 p.m. on the Thursday news telecast. The boys were accompanied to York by their mothers, Mrs. Paul M. Bowman, and son, John, and Mrs. Kathryn Hahn, and son, Charles.

On Tuesday evening, the following boys attended the spring meeting of the Order of the Arrow, Fraternal Organization of Scouting, held at Sam Lewis State Park, near Wrightsville: James P. Hahn, Robert Hahn and Pius Pautenils Jr., members of Explorer Post 84, and Richard Hornberger, of Troop 84.

Asked at a news conference if he and Nixon had lost the argument to Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and the Federal Reserve Board, Mitchell said: "I'll say this, Vice President Nixon and I said publicly on several occasions we favored a tax cut. The administration has not favored one."

Still Favored It

Queried whether he still favors tax reduction, Mitchell said he does.

In another economic development, the Labor Department reported that unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits dropped during the week ending May 31 by 65,300 to the lowest level since Jan. 4.

It was the seventh consecutive week the department has reported a decline and brought the total of insured unemployment down to 2,827,600.

Some New Layoffs

Another decline also was reported in initial claims for unemployment benefits, an indicator of new layoffs among covered workers. The department said initial claims dropped by 16,500 during the week ending June 7 to a new 1958 low of 321,600.

The Reserve Board indicated May's business upturn continued into early June.

It noted a pickup in private housing starts and department store sales during May and said sales of new cars, while still low, reached a new high for the year during March.

Makes Prediction

On a related front, Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, economic research director for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, was asked at a Chamber symposium when he expects the recession to end.

"Once people are convinced that we are at the bottom, that there will be no more layoffs, they will start buying and the recession will begin to end. This will happen before the end of this year," he said.

U. S. INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION UP 1ST TIME IN MAY

By JOHN H. AVERILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. industrial production took an upswing last month for the first time since June last year.

The Federal Reserve Board, reporting this yesterday, said the index of output for the nation's factories, mines and mills rose by one point from April to May.

This brought the index to 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average — still 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points under the record high of December 1956.

The board's report was another indication that May was the best business month since the recession began last fall.

Lost Fight On Tax Cut

Meanwhile Secretary of Labor Mitchell confirmed that he and Vice President Nixon waged a losing fight within the administration for proposing a tax cut to Congress.

Asked at a news conference if he and Nixon had lost the argument to Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and the Federal Reserve Board, Mitchell said:

"I'll say this, Vice President Nixon and I said publicly on several occasions we favored a tax cut. The administration has not favored one."

Queried whether he still favors tax reduction, Mitchell said he does.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — He lost his hands and feet in the Korean War, but Ed Reeves said today, "I'm just plain lucky."

Reeves, 26, is one of 17 handicapped students among 2,958 to be awarded degrees today in University of Illinois commencement exercises.

At 19, Reeves was an infantryman fighting the Chinese Communists at the Chosin Reservoir in December 1950. He was captured and left for dead. For two days he lay in 27-below zero cold until U.S. Marines found him.

"Look What I've Got"

His frozen feet and most of his hands were removed by surgery. What sort of luck was that?

"Well," said Reeves, of Wilmington, Ill., his eyes roving his compact mobile home eight years later. "Look what I've got."

He smiled at his wife, Beverly Jean, whom he married in September 1951, and his daughters, Michelle Lee, 4, and Melody Sue, who will be 2 in August.

A $9,000 fund raised by well-wishers while he lay in Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., helped Reeves and his wife get a start.

He receives an unspecified amount of disability pension, and the GI Bill has paid for his schooling and part of his living expenses.

He walks on artificial feet and has some grip in his hands. He has a summer job selling mobile homes, but he's dubious of his sales ability.

To Get Master's

Now that he has a bachelor's degree, Reeves plans to continue and get a masters in vocational counseling.

What about his handicap?

"It isn't so much. I'm better off than lots of people that way," Reeves said.

"Everybody has his troubles. With mine, I've had a good share of luck."

TRUJILLO JR. GETS PROMOTION IN HOMELAND

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., who got a major's commission at the age of three in the Dominican Republic, still is advancing up the military ladder.

Now 29 and attending the U.S. Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., he may not graduate with his class next Friday but he will head a new combined chiefs of staff when he gets home.

Although he cannot fly a plane, his present title is commander of the Dominican air force.

His uncle, Dominican President Hector B. Trujillo, announced yesterday that the combined chiefs were being set up to better coordinate the army, navy and air force.

The general said last month he plans to go back to Hollywood to court film star Kim Novak some more on his way home after his class graduates.

Not Spending Aid

He gave costly sports cars to Miss Novak and Zsa Zsa Gabor, and also gave Miss Gabor a mink coat. But he denied that any of the money he spent came from U.S. foreign aid funds.

Rep. Charles B. Brownson (R-Ind.) said yesterday the Army advised him that "Lt. Gen. Trujillo did not successfully complete the course. Therefore he will not be issued a certificate of graduation but will be given a certificate of attendance only."

SENATE PASSES
PAY BOOST BILL
BY VOICE VOTE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed Friday a compromise bill giving a 10 per cent pay boost to the government's 1,021,000 civil service and other employees.

Action came by voice vote adoption of a report agreed upon Thursday adjusting Senate and House differences over the legislation.

With the House in recess until Monday, final congressional action was put off until next week.

The bill's annual cost is about 542 million dollars. But the first year cost will be closer to 800 million dollars since the boost is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said the bill will give all employees equal treatment. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) said the pay increase was modest compared to those given workers in private industry.

"Very Bad Policy"
But Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said it was "very bad policy" to grant retroactive pay increases.

And Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) said Congress was contributing to inflation and setting a pay raise example for private industry.

Sens. Carl T. Curtis (R-Nebr.) and John J. Williams (R-Del.) joined Lausche and Byrd in opposing the measure.

The bill covers not only regular classified civil service employees, but also employees of Congress, federal courts, foreign service, Atomic Energy Commission, and Veterans Administration medical service.

Postal workers previously were given a 10 per cent raise. The bill permits creation of 599 new super-grade jobs. These pay from $13,000 to $19,000.

It also gives the full 10 per cent raise to 67,000 scientists and engineers who had recently received raises because they were in hard-to-hire categories.

The government promised legal immunity to Frenchmen who buy the bonds with gold, foreign currency and unregistered foreign stocks and bonds they have hoarded illegally.

De Gaulle described the future of France in glowing terms. He stressed the potential oil wealth of the Sahara, and technical and economic reawakening of French industry and the nation's expanding population.

"Let's go!" the 67-year-old soldier-premier cried with a concluding note of enthusiasm and hope. "The starting signal has been given."

World Briefs

HONG KONG (AP) — Western and Eastern superstitions coincided Friday.

The Western calendar's only Friday the 13th in 1958 is the Day of Kan—the Day of the Weapon—on the Chinese lunar calendar. It is a most unlucky day to give parties, do business, sign contracts, get married, or lend money.

It also is a day to avoid friends if friendships are to be retained. Should two friends meet accidentally, each should pretend not to see the other.

Done adroitly, this may fool the bad luck devils into believing no friendship exists, whereupon they race madly down the street in search of other victims.

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The

Swiss Parliament approved a constitution amendment Friday to grant voting rights to women for the first time in Swiss history.

But so many deputies voted against the measure that the necessary approval in a subsequent all-male referendum seems doubtful.

To become effective, the measure requires approval in an October referendum by an over-all majority of the 26 cantons (states).

PARIS (AP) — Lina Ulanova,

The star of Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet and the rest of her troupe attended the performance of the American Ballet Theatre.

It is the first time leading U.S. and Soviet ballet troupes have appeared simultaneously in a Western capital. So far, Paris critics have avoided comparisons.

BRUNSWICK, N.C. (AP)—This southeastern North Carolina community's four-year "vote-for-whom-you-please" election is being held today.

As has been the custom for many years, the ballot will contain the names of the town's 42 registered male voters. The man receiving the highest number of votes will become mayor, the next highest four will become the Town Council. There are 75 eligible voters.

No woman's name is listed on the ballot, but write-ins are allowed.

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — An

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister

Macmillan came home from a one-week visit to the United States and Canada today and said President Eisenhower has a standing invitation to return his call.

The prime minister looked tired but was in a confident mood when he landed on a flight from Ottawa, where he addressed the Canadian Parliament yesterday.

Macmillan said he has no firm plans for seeing French Premier de Gaulle but would like to talk with him. "I know he is heavily engaged at the moment and a meeting in the immediate future might not be feasible," he added.

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta woman purchased a new car yesterday and drove to the courthouse to buy a license plate. When she came out the car was gone.

Mrs. Clyde M. Lewis and police searched for more than an hour without success. Waiting at a corner for a taxi she saw the new car approaching and ran out in front of it. The car stopped and bystanders helped her hold the driver.

Patrolman E. C. Mitchell said William G. Hamilton, 44, of Monroe, Ga., was jailed for suspicion of auto theft.

Mrs. Lewis tossed the new license plate in the new car and headed for home.

Wilson had served five months of a one-year sentence imposed in Kent County for passing bad checks. Fortner had served a month and a half of a six-month sentence for larceny in Frederick County.

TIERED SENATORS BACK AT WORK ON LABOR BILL

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weary senators return to the Capitol today to push ahead with votes on a labor control bill still lacking many features urged by President Eisenhower.

In a second successive 12-hour session yesterday, the senators beat back two major amendments urged by the administration, with the voting largely along party lines.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief author of the bill, predicted that far-reaching GOP amendments also would meet defeat today.

Two Hours Early

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called the Senate into session two hours ahead of the usual time in an effort to win final passage by tonight. But there seemed a reasonable chance the debate would run into next week.

Forty-four new amendments were on senators' desk yesterday, and only two of these were disposed of during the day. Most of the amendments were from the Republicans.

The first up for a vote today was another amendment offered by the Eisenhower administration and strongly opposed by union leaders.

Mostly Unchanged

It provides that a union shall lose its right to be certified as bargaining agent and to use National Labor Relations Board procedures unless it files financial reports required by the bill.

Kennedy said this amounted to an effort to penalize rank-and-file union members for the sins of their officers. His bill provides criminal penalties against officers who fail to file the reports.

Would Modify T-H

The major provisions of the bill remained essentially unchanged after the two days of debate. These would set up union democracy procedures, including secret elections, and require detailed public financial reporting by the larger unions, and their officers.

The measure also would modify the Taft-Hartley Act to meet long standing union complaints. These provisions would repeal the requirement for filing non-Communist affidavits by union officers, permit prehire arrangements for construction unions, and allow strikers to vote in a bargaining election after they have been replaced.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ)

still had several administration amendments to offer. However, Secretary of Labor Mitchell said yesterday he was abandoning one of his demands for this session—a proposal to tighten loopholes in the Taft-Hartley ban on secondary boycotts which affect neutrals in a labor dispute.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California told a reporter he definitely would offer the two major amendments he has proposed.

One would require a membership vote before a union could strike, if 20 per cent of the rank-and-file members ask for such a vote. The other would permit 20 per cent of the members to force a referendum on recall of union officers or on a change in a union's constitution, by-laws or regulations.

Robert C. Neely

Is Buried Friday

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Allison Funeral Home, Fairfield, for Robert C. Neely, 73, a retired rural mail carrier who died suddenly Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at his home of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Rev. Harry S. Ecker and Rev. Edwin P. Elliot, former and present pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, officiated. Interment was in the Fairfield Union Cemetery.

The pallbearers were George Henry James, Robert U. Neely, Daniel Teeter and Robert Wills.

BEMILLER RITES HELD

Funeral services for Miss Ruthanna M. Bemiller, 55, of Silver Run, who died on Friday morning, were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. George E. Bowers, McSherrystown, officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Union Cemetery. Silver Run, serving as pallbearers were Albert Bemiller, Robert D. DeGroff, J. Today's Talk

SIGNIFICANCE OF THOUGHT

In the Bible you will find this line: "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." In other words we are what we think. You can easily get the measure of a man after a brief talk with him. Look close enough, carefully listen, and you are apt to read his autobiography across his face! There is a line in Emerson's writing that I often think upon. He said: "What you are speaks so loudly that I cannot hear what you say."

We love and trust people instinctively. Our handshake is a bit from our autobiography. We ourselves are our most accurate testimonial. The significance of thought is that no one can keep us from it. It is forever active and free, in fact it is the freest thing in the world! A gag can be put upon the utterance of a thought, but not upon its existence. Thought will forever remain significant, for from it are born all the joys, hopes and aspirations that become a part of our daily living. We can often think ourselves out of illness. It is from the throne of the human mind that all great thoughts are born and sent out into the world. There is nothing more significant than what we do with our inborn power of thought. You can meditate upon great things after standing before that great bronze by Rodin which he called "The Thinker." No one can know our thoughts until we give expression to them. We have no more sacred possession. It's what we do with our thoughts that can make our lives significant. We can visit, and talk with any number of useful human beings, as narrated in their books. Our thoughts have every thing to do with our success and happiness in this best of all possible worlds!

Just Folks

A PRETTY GOOD LAND
In spite of the graft that is said to abound.

In spite of the rogues and their ways.

In spite of the wrong that's occasionally found.

My country, I still sing thy praise.

Let the muck rakers rake and view things with alarm.

Let them tincture their writings with gall.

This country of ours still retains all its charm;

It's a pretty good land after all.

I heed not the shout of the scoffer who cries

That riches are dragging us down.

For the Stars and Stripes proudly and splendidly flies

Over city and prairie and town.

And the warmth of the sun and the grace of the dew

As sweetly and tenderly fall;

In millions of breasts there are hearts beating true;

It's a pretty good land after all.

Let him who will say that this land that we love

Is losing its vision of right;

I say that her skies that are bending above

Are as gentle and blue and as bright

As they were when this nation of ours was first born.

Oh, the wrong that we see is but small;

And in spite of the lips that are turned up in scorn.

It's a pretty good land after all.

County History

Weights, Measures Of Scotland

By B. F. M. MacPherson

The notes on the Boyd family, of "Masque Manor," are continued at this time.

A somewhat modern tombstone marks the grave of William Boyd, son of Thomas and Rebecca Boyd. The inscription is as follows:

"Wm. Boyd, Sen., & Elizabeth his wife, also Mary, Benj. & Sam. Children of W. and E. Boyd"

Elizabeth & Jane Martin & George Boyd Grandchildren of Wm. and E. Boyd."

William Boyd II, son of William I and Margaret Boyd, was born in 1726 and died in 1785 in Cumberland Township, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. He was married in 1748 to Catharine, the daughter of Archibald McGrew, another pioneer settler in what is now Adams County. Colonel McGrew, who served as an officer during the French and Indian Wars, was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, and died in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, at the home of his son, William McGrew.

In his will, which was written August 13, 1785, and entered to probate December 2, 1785, William Boyd II mentions the following members of his family:

1. Wife—Catharine (McGrew) Boyd.
2. Son—William Boyd (III).
3. Son—John Boyd.
4. Son—Robert Boyd.
5. Son—Archibald McGrew Boyd.
6. Son—Benjamin Boyd.

7. Daughter—Rosanna Boyd "now deceased but formerly intermarried with — Kennedy."
8. Daughter—Mary Boyd intermarried with John Cavan.
9. Daughter—Jennette Boyd.
10. Daughter—Elizabeth Boyd.

Both William Boyd II and his wife, Catharine McGrew, are buried in Black's Graveyard in unmarked graves.

Robert, the son of William II and Catharine (McGrew) Boyd, married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas and Catharine Larimer. Thomas Larimer, it will be remembered, built the old stone tavern, which are still standing at Two Taverns, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

Quite a few years ago the inscriptions from the headstones in Black's Graveyard were copied and fortunately that list is still available. Included in it are two Boyd markers that have since disappeared. They are as follows:

1. "Here lies ye body of/ William Boyd/ who departed this life/ October 1, 1787/ aged 18 months."

2. "Here lies the body of/ Margaret Boyd/ Departed this life/ August 22, 1767/ aged 7 years."

This concludes the notes on the Boyd family.

One of the most unusual grave-stones in the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian burial ground (more commonly known as Black's Graveyard) is that of Rebekah Erwin. This is an upright black slate stone, approximately twenty-eight inches high and eighteen inches wide. Carved at the top of the marker is a heraldic device, entitled the "Weights and Measures of Scotland." The following inscription is immediately beneath this design:

"Here lies ye body of Rebekah Erwin, who departed this life March 24, 1763. Aged 47 Years"

Very little is known pertaining to this particular family. A William Erwin was an early settler in the Manor of Masque. He took up a tract of land made improvements thereon as early as September, 1739. Rebekah Erwin could have been a daughter of this pioneer, although there is no absolute proof of such relationship. Undoubtedly other members of the Erwin family are buried in Black's graveyard for Rebekah Erwin's stone stands alone in a fair-sized plot. If so, it is the old story, the graves were never marked or the stones have disappeared.

The common tradition pertaining to the old slate stones, embellished with family coat of arms, is that they were brought from the "old country." An interesting story but one that does not fit in with the few known facts of the case.

A much more plausible theory states that the stones were quarried at Peachbottom, York County, Pennsylvania. The slate quarried there in later years was of precisely the same character and appearance.

A careful study of all the grave-stones of this type tends to prove that all were cut by the same hand. There is no "imprint" but each and every one show similarities that are identical.

The pioneer Bigham family can boast one of the old stones with the family coat-of-arms carved thereon. It depicts a lion rampant in a shield, with a clenched hand surmounting it. The marker is a large one covering an entire grave and the following inscription is cut thereon:

"Here lies the Body of John Bigham who departed this life December ye 18th 1739. Aged 26 years. Also here lies the Body of Agnes Bigham who departed this life December ye 18th, 1749."

Also William Bigham who died February 2nd, 1816. In the 68th year of his Age."

William Bigham, born in York County, Pennsylvania, April 8, 1748, died in what is now Cumberland Township, Adams County, February 2, 1816. During the War of the American Revolution he served as a sergeant in Captain Thomas Chur-dale's Company of the Fourth Battalion, Anthony Wayne, colonel. In the campaign around Ticonderoga during 1776-77 he, William Bigham, was wounded and is said to have been carried to Albany, New York, by his brother, who was in the same company—a distance of some thirty miles.

Buried in the same plot with William Bigham are other members of his family. They are as follows:

1. Ann Bigham, died April 9, 1838, aged 78 years.

2. William Bigham, Junr., died December 30, 1828, aged 39 years.

Note: Probably the son of William Bigham Sr., who was a soldier in the war of the American Revolution.

The notes on the Bigham family will be continued next week.

BIG FATHER'S DAY SURPRISE

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
The Associated Press

"You know what I think?" said 12-year-old Chris at the supper table. "I think Dad works too hard and he ought to have a real holiday on Father's day. This is the third night in a row he hasn't been home for dinner."

"Could we give him a holiday for a present?" said Betsy.

"Why not? You know he loves to go fishing. Why couldn't we all take him fishing?" asked Chris.

"I think that's a wonderful idea," said Mom, and she just glowed inside at this spontaneous outburst from her children.

Started Plans
"Let's get it all planned and paid for so he doesn't have to do a thing but go," said Chris. "I've got enough money to buy a tank of gas."

"I'll get his fishing tackle out and all fixed up," said John, and I'm going to get him that blue dragon fly he wanted last year."

"Let's make a sign to tell him about it," suggested Betsy. "I don't have much money, but I could get the maps. And Mom, could I make some deviled eggs? You know Dad loves them."

"Sure thing, Betsy, you and I will get all the food ready, so we won't have to spend any money in a restaurant."

"Mom, did Dad renew his fishing license?" Chris was trying to think of everything.

"I'm sure he did, Chris," said Mom, "but I'll check on it." And so it went. All three children and Mom planned every last detail of that trip and together they made a big sign: "Dad's Fishing Trip — Sponsored by His Wife and Children."

"What's sponsored mean?" asked Betsy.

"It means we're paying for it," answered Chris.

Excited Planning
"Well how do you spell it?" There was a little money bag attached to the sign labelled "expense account." There was a map with the route carefully marked out. There were pictures of deviled eggs and a little package containing the blue dragonfly. Near the sign were Dad's fishing clothes all ready to wear and his pole and tackle box in apple pie order. His fishing license was pinned to his cap.

It took days of excited planning and whispering, but the secret was well kept. Saturday evening the plan was sprung and no Dad could have been more pleased. He loved fishing and he loved jaunts with his family.

LEGAL DICTATOR?

De Gaulle's Powers Based on Short Vote But French View Constitutions Lightly

DE GAULLE, is he legally and constitutionally a ruler of France, or was his peculiar "call" an artful usurpation of power?

Ex-Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg provided the semblance of a legal link between the German republic and Hitler. Has President Rene Coty and a majority of the French National Assembly done the same for le Grand Charles?

Answering these questions can result in some Gallic, constitutional hair splitting. But the French are not unequal when it comes to playing with words and ignoring the substance. We thus approach the questions with a French attitude.

THE COPY of the Constitution for the Fourth French Republic now before me is a typewritten, off-set job. It was sent to our college library by the French Embassy.

This is typical of Gallic indifference to the constitutional concept of government. Few educated Frenchmen can tell you the number of constitutions their country has had since Louis XVI agreed to their first in 1791.

During the Decennal Observance of the Liberation of France, 1954, I was briefly a guest of la Republique. In the chit-chat between courses during one of the banquets, I asked the question: How many constitutions?

A French official across the table began counting on his fingers. He came up with "nine or ten." His friend wrinkled a brow and thought it ought to be "thirteen or fourteen." "But not!" protested the first. "You are thinking of some short regimes, as those of the Marshal Petain and Napoleon's Hundred Days, when the ruler was so busy ruling he had not the time to write a constitution."

One thus readily understands why the French Embassy staff sent college libraries some glorified mimograph sheets as the official translation of their current constitution. Most likely, some thrifty budgeteer on the embassy staff was not sure the Fourth Republic was going to last long enough to justify a printer's bill.

ON THE OTHER hand, the typewritten copy may have been a hedge against a flock of amendments to this latest Constitution. A two-thirds margin in the National Assembly, or a three-fifths support in both houses, changes the Constitution within days.

Should the National Assembly pass a law that is held unconstitutional, a two-thirds sustaining vote in this lower legislative chamber, or the three-fifths vote in both houses (less than the requirement to pass an American law over a Presidential veto) is all it takes to accommodate the French Constitution to the law rather than writing a new law to comply with the Constitution.

TED WILLIAMS HELPS BOSOX TO BEAT A'S 9-3 AS YANKS LOSE

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert have been slugging the home runs, and Frank Malzone has been batting with the bat, but look who's finally started to hit for the bustling Boston Red Sox — a guy named Ted Williams.

The Big Guy, who has last year won the batting crown at an unlikely 38 average, has been having it tough so far. But last night he cracked a pair of singles, drove in two runs and scored one while reaching his percentage high — .295 — of the season as the Red Sox tightened their grip on second place with a 9-3 victory over Kansas City.

That left Boston eight games behind the American League leading New York Yankees, who were beaten 4-2 by the Detroit Tigers. Cleveland defeated fourth place Washington 10-1, and Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox ended a 5-5 tie at 14 innings because of a Baltimore curfew.

Garver's Third Defeat
The Red Sox, winning eight of their last 10, handed seven-game winner Ned Garver his third defeat.

Tom Brewer, now 3-5, won the 13th Boston attack with a seven-hitter.

In defeating the Yankees, the Tigers won their third in four. It was Bobby Shantz' third consecutive defeat.

Marleski Gets 8th
Billy Hoeltz won for a 5-5 record, but needed relief help. He retired the first six he faced, then gave up Mickey Mantle's 12th homer for a 1-1 tie in the fourth.

Ray Narleski won his eighth with a four-hitter for the Indians. Chuck Stobbs lost his fifth.

The White Sox, blanked on two hits for eight innings, chased Jack Harshman with seven singles and five runs for a 5-4 lead in the ninth. Then Jim Marshall, pinch-hitting for Jim Busby (whose 3-run homer junked Billy Pierce's one-hit shutout in the seventh), lined the tying home run off Bill Fischer with two out in the ninth.

Upper Adams Little League

The Cardinals are the only unbeaten outfit in the Upper Adams Little League as the result of winning 12-10 over the Pirates Friday evening at Arendtsville. It was the second straight win for Coach Glenn Bream's squad.

At Biglerville the Red Sox notched their initial triumph by topping the Phillies in a tight game 5-3.

Rodney Guise, winning pitcher, struck out 14 batters and allowed but four hits. His opponent, Bobby Garretson, whiffed 11 and yielded eight hits.

Score by innings:
Red Sox — 3 0 1 0 1 0 — 5
Phillies — 1 0 1 0 1 0 — 3
Batteries: Garretson and "Corney" Bedford; Red Sox, Guise and Jimmy Miller.

Joe Bosak's Yankees routed the Braves 10-1 at Bendersville. Paul Black hurled the victory and had a shutout going into the final inning. He was backed by a strong hitting attack.

Score by innings:
Yankees — 3 0 6 1 0 3 — 10
Batteries: Braves, Black, Kennedy, and Osborn and Kennedy; Yankees, P. Black and Haskell.

Jack Jukiszyn, who joined the Reading Indians less than two weeks ago, is helping keep his club in contention for the southern division lead in the Eastern League.

The Reading third baseman defied Friday night by slugging an 8th inning home run that tied Albany at 5-5. Then with two out and the bases loaded in the 11th, he hit a single that gave the Indians a 6-5 win. The homer was his second since entering the league.

York failed to gain any ground on Lancaster, the southern division leader, as it split a double-header with Springfield, losing the opener 3-0 and taking the nightcap 7-4 on some dramatic late-inning hitting.

Williamsport defeated Allentown 5-2 at Williamsport while Lancaster and Binghamton had their scheduled game of division leaders rained out at Binghamton.

TIM TAM WILL HAVE SURGERY FOR BONE CHIP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tim Tam comes to this center of veterinary medicine next week for an operation known to baseball players as removal of bone chips.

Ball players usually return to the lineup after such an operation. Tim Tam, horse racing's biggest money winner this year, conceivably could race again. But he won't.

Calumet Farm trainer Jimmy Jones said so Thursday in announcing the operation to be performed at the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine.

2nd In Belmont
"He's ruined, and about all we can do is save him for stud," said Jones in New York after conferring with Dr. William Reed, his veterinarian, and Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farm.

The three-year-old colt won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, then injured his right front ankle running the Belmont Stakes last Saturday. He finished second.

What Tim Tam did was break the sesamoid bone which forms the knob at the back of the fetlock joint just above the foot. The result is bone chips lodged between the joint.

Usually in this type of operation the horse is up and exercising the day after surgery and home in two weeks.

BILL NORMAN OKAYS RULES SET BY TIGER

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — This was Bill Norman talking.

"If I'm lucky and get back here again the next time around, I'll be able to talk about the team. Right now I've seen them play only four games. I'm on a merry-go-round. It will take a little time for old Willie Card to collect his wits."

Willie Card?
The new manager of the Detroit Tigers laughed and explained that many, many years ago—probably no one knows exactly when—Bill Veck and Eddie Stanky hung the tag on him because when he broke into baseball he was in the St. Louis Cardinals' organization.

1,000 Against Yanks
Right now, Norman has a 1,000 percentage against the league leading New York Yankees. The first time he managed against them, he beat their ears back, 4-2. That would give an ordinary guy cause to do a little puffing.

But this veteran of 30 years in baseball has learned the foolishness of kidding himself.

"It's dog eat dog in the majors, strictly a day-to-day proposition," he said. "You average two years on this job unless you have the horses."

As for his philosophy of the game: Strategy?

Tiger's Rules Okay
"Playing for one run, the hit-and-run type, will take you out of more innings than it will put you in. There aren't many guys around now who know enough about handling the bat or try for the single run."

Rules?
"Whatever rules Jack Tighe (whom he replaced) set up are good enough for me. That goes for the signals, too. It's easier for me to learn a new set than an entire team."

Drinking?
"I drink beer. The other day, they asked some of the kids who played for me in the minors, what I thought of drinking and they said:

"Willie Card will buy after a winning game."

CHICAGO (AP) — The U. S. Olympic Committee has filed notice that all United States cities desiring to play host to the 1964 Olympic Games must file bids with the committee before Sept. 1.

K.L. (Tug) Wilson, committee president, said Thursday the committee will screen all invitations and the successful bid will be given to the International Olympic Committee by Dec. 1. The host city will be picked at the International meeting in Munich, Germany, next May.

Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, Los Angeles and Philadelphia are expected to seek the 1964 games.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals signed a bonus baby Thursday.

Signed to a contract with Omaha of the Class AAA American Assn. was 21-year-old Edward Andrew Czerniakowski, a right-handed hitting catcher from Platts, Pa.

DETROIT (AP) — Art Clesuras, a 19-year-old outfielder from the University of Maryland, has signed a Triple-A contract with the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers also announced the signing of two other outfielders—Danny Blevins of Van Lear, Ky., and Jerold Cross of Ponca City, Okla. Both signed Class D contracts.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joseph E. Snyder, 25, whose mount fell on him in a race at Charles Town, Va., died Thursday night from severe head injuries.

FIND FORGED NAMES IN KY. VOTE RECOUNT

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — A circuit judge supervising recount of primary ballots cast in the election that unseated veteran Rep. Noble Gregory (D-Ky.) said yesterday ballots had been found which bore forged signatures.

Judge Earl Osborne said he is keeping a list of "obvious forgeries" on the ballots for future use by state and federal authorities.

The judge said the forged signatures of election officials were found on ballots from several precincts in Logan County.

Victor's Lead Slips

The winner was Frank Stubblefield, Murray druggist.

At the end of counting yesterday, Stubblefield's majority had dwindled by 118 votes.

He had no comment on the reports of forgeries, however.

Continue Today
"I've been busy at other chores and don't know anything about it," Stubblefield said.

A contest suit filed by Gregory charged fraud in the Logan County balloting and asked that the election be declared null and void. It also asked voiding of returns from two precincts in Calloway County.

If this occurred, Gregory would win the election.

The recount will continue today.

CALLS FAUBUS A "QUISLING"

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman called Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus a "quisling" Thursday night at ceremonies honoring the nine Negro students who enrolled at Little Rock's Central High School.

"The name of Faubus will go down in history with 'lynch' and 'quisling' as a man who failed to do his duty and use his office to uphold the public interest," Harriman declared.

Vidkun Quisling was a Norwegian traitor during the occupation of his country by the Nazis in World War II.

Harriman, who like Faubus is a Democrat, spoke at a reception sponsored by Local 6, Hotel and Club Employees Union. The local presented the nine students a race relations award and contributed $500 to a fund for their education.

The New York governor deplored Faubus' use of National Guardsmen to try to keep Negro students out of the Little Rock school. He said Faubus' actions were un-American.

REDS DELAYING YANKS' RELEASE
BONN, Germany (AP) — The Russians made it official Friday: The United States will have to deal directly with Communist East Germany to get back nine American Army men and their helicopter who strayed into the Red satellite.

The Russians delivered a letter to the U. S. Embassy in Bonn declaring that return of the Americans was "not within the competence of the Soviet forces."

Presumably the United States now will make some sort of approach to East German officials, since Secretary of State Dulles said earlier this week that negotiations with them to secure the return of the eight officers and one sergeant would not imply diplomatic recognition of the Red German government.

The United States and its allies do not recognize the East German government on the ground that it is an illegal regime imposed by the Soviet army.

The helicopter got lost in a thunderstorm Saturday.

Couple To Marry But Home In Ashes

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Their honeymoon home lies in charred ruins but a Santa Barbara couple will be married on schedule today.

The home and its furnishings had been given to the bride couple—Albert G. Romero, 27, and Julia Barrera, 19—by the bridegroom's mother.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald was reported in satisfactory condition today after an accidental overdose of sleeping pills put her in a hospital.

Miss McDonald was taken by ambulance from her hotel to a hospital in neighboring Henderson last night. Her stomach was pumped.

SON REUNITES HUSBAND, WIFE
GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Donald Rose and Virginia Rose stood by the bed of their 5-year-old son, Donny, as a minister reunited them in marriage. It was Donny who reunited them.

His father was working in Fort Wayne, Ind., when he learned Donny had been struck in the left eye by a fragment of pottery and might lose sight in the eye. The father flew to Los Angeles.

Donald, 32, and Virginia, 37, had been divorced two years. But as they prayed together at Donny's bedside they realized they belonged together.

Wins 1,000-to-1 chance
—an operation was successful and the eye was saved. Thursday night, in his room at Glendale Memorial Hospital, Donny won something else: a father.

Donny's physician, Dr. Orrie Ghrist, was the best man.

Donald Sr. is going back to Fort Wayne for his things. Then he'll move here to rebuild his family life.

"We have to stay together," he said. "If anything else comes up, we'll just straighten it out, that's all."

BADLY HURT IN ALPINE CRASH

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — A vacationing U.S. Air Force pilot and his family careened at 75 miles an hour down a curving Alpine road Thursday when the brakes of their car failed.

Lt. Albert Vergara held to the road around hair-raising turns but the car finally crashed into a farm house.

His wife, Deborah Vergara, 25, a native of Syracuse, N.Y., was injured seriously. He and their two children, Albert 3, and Vonesse, 18 months, were only shaken up.

Police said it was a miracle that none was killed.

JAY REGISTERS 2ND SHUTOUT FOR MILWAUKEE

By ED WILKS
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joey Jay, the youngster touted as having the stuff to be another Warren Spahn for the Milwaukee Braves, may just be starting, but he already has one of Spahn's traits down pat. Two of his three victories in the majors are shutouts.

It was Ben Geraghty, Milwaukee's top minor league boss, who tagged the 22-year-old right-hander as a comer who could become a consistent ace, such as Spahn, who among other records leads active National League pitchers with 42 shutouts.

That's a big order for Jay, who hasn't been a ball of fire since signing for a bonus in 1953. But there wasn't much wrong with his stuff last night as he blanked St. Louis 2-0 in a game held to six innings by rain.

Pirates Bow
That retained Milwaukee's 1½-game lead as second place San Francisco ended a losing slump at five with a 6-1 victory over Philadelphia. Los Angeles scored two in the ninth for a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs were idled by rain.

Billy Bruton had three of Milwaukee's seven hits off Jim Brosnan, now 6-5 after losing his first in four decisions since switching from the Cubs to St. Louis.

Jay, the first Little League to make the majors, walked but one and struck out four as the Cards dropped their second in a row, both shutouts.

Sixth For Antonelli
Southpaw Johnny Antonelli won his sixth with a five-hitter that gave the Giants their first complete game since beating St. Louis June 1. The Giants were held to three hits and an unearned run by loser Robin Roberts (5-7) in seven innings.

Willie Mays broke an 0-for-10 slump with a third-inning single for the Giants. He is tied for the NL lead at .392 with Cardinal Stan Musial, who was 0-for-2.

Dodger Clem Labine won his third in relief. Ron Kline (6-7) was the loser.

TIM TAM WILL HAVE SURGERY FOR BONE CHIP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tim Tam comes to this center of veterinary medicine next week for an operation known to baseball players as removal of bone chips.

Ball players usually return to the lineup after such an operation. Tim Tam, horse racing's biggest money winner this year, conceivably could race again. But he won't.

Calumet Farm trainer Jimmy Jones said so Thursday in announcing the operation to be performed at the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine.

2nd in Belmont
"He's ruined, and about all we can do is save him for stud," said Jones in New York after conferring with Dr. William Reed, his veterinarian, and Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farm.

The three-year-old colt won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, then injured his right front ankle running the Belmont Stakes last Saturday. He finished second.

What Tim Tam did was break the sesamoid bone which forms the knob at the back of the fetlock joint just above the foot. The result is bone chips lodged between the joint.

Usually in this type of operation the horse is up and exercising the day after surgery and home in two weeks.

BILL NORMAN OKAYS RULES SET BY TIGHE

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP) — This was Bill Norman talking.

"If I'm lucky and get back here again the next time around, I'll be able to talk about the team. Right now I've seen them play only four games. I'm on a merry-go-round. It will take a little time for old Willie Card to collect his wits."

Willie Card?
The new manager of the Detroit Tigers laughed and explained that many, many years ago—probably no one knows exactly when—Bill Veck and Eddie Stanky hung the tag on him because when he broke into baseball he was in the St. Louis Cardinals' organization.

1,000 Against Yanks
Right now, Norman has a 1,000 percentage against the league leading New York Yankees. The first time he managed against them, he beat their ears back.

4-2. That would give an ordinary guy cause to do a little puffing. But this veteran of 30 years in baseball has learned the foolishness of kidding himself.

"It's dog eat dog in the majors, strictly a day-to-day proposition," he said. "You average two years on this job unless you have the horses."

Strategy?

Tighe's Rules Okay
"Playing for one run, the hit-and-run type, will take you out of more innings than it will put you in. There aren't many guys around now who know enough about handling the bat or try for the single run."

Rules?
"Whatever rules Jack Tighe (whom he replaced) set up are good enough for me. That goes for the signals, too. It's easier for me to learn a new set than an entire team."

Drinking?
"I drink beer. The other day they asked some of the kids who played for me in the minors, what I thought of drinking and they said:

"Willie Card will buy after a winning game."

CHICAGO (AP) — The U. S. Olympic Committee has filed notice that all United States cities desiring to play host to the 1964 Olympic Games must file bids with the committee before Sept. 1.

K.L. (Tug) Wilson, committee president, said Thursday the committee will screen all invitations and the successful bid will be given to the International Olympic Committee by Dec. 1. The host city will be picked at the International meeting in Munich, Germany, next May.

Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, Los Angeles and Philadelphia are expected to seek the 1964 games.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals signed a bonus baby Thursday.

Signed to a contract with Omaha of the Class AAA American Assn. was 21-year-old Edward Andrew Czerniakowski, a right-handed hitting catcher from Plains, Pa.

DETROIT (AP) — Art Cleasuras, a 19-year-old outfielder from the University of Maryland, has signed a Triple-A contract with the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers also announced the signing of two other outfielders—Danny Blevins of Van Lear, Ky., and Jerold Cross of Ponca City, Okla. Both signed Class D contracts.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joseph E. Snyder, 25, whose mound fell on him in a race at Charles Town, W. Va., died Thursday night from severe head injuries.

FIND FORGED NAMES IN KY. VOTE RECOUNT

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — A circuit judge supervising recount of primary ballots cast in the election that unseated veteran Rep. Noble Gregory (D-Ky.) said yesterday ballots had been found which bore forged signatures.

Judge Earl Osborne said he is keeping a list of "obvious forgeries" on the ballots for future use by state and federal authorities.

The judge said the forged signatures of election officials were found on ballots from several precincts in Logan County.

Victor's Lead Slips
Gregory petitioned for the new count in Logan, Calloway and Marshall counties after he lost the May 27 First Congressional District primary by 432 votes.

The winner was Frank Stubblefield, Murray drugist.

At the end of counting yesterday, Stubblefield's majority had dwindled by 118 votes.

He had no comment on the reports of forgeries, however.

Continue Today
"I've been busy at other chores and don't know anything about it," Stubblefield said.

A contest suit filed by Gregory charged fraud in the Logan County election and asked that the election be declared null and void. It also asked voiding of returns from two precincts in Calloway County.

If this occurred, Gregory would win the election.

The recount will continue today.

CALLS FAUBUS A "QUISLING"

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman called Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus a "quisling" Thursday night at ceremonies honoring the nine Negro students who enrolled at Little Rock's Central High School.

"The name of Faubus will go down in history with 'lynch' and 'quisling' as a man who failed to do his duty and use his office to uphold the public interest," Harriman declared.

Vidkun Quisling was a Norwegian traitor during the occupation of his country by the Nazis in World War II.

Harriman, who like Faubus is a Democrat, spoke at a reception sponsored by Local 6, Hotel and Club Employees Union. The local presented the nine students a race relations award and contributed $500 to a fund for their education.

The New York governor deplored Faubus' use of National Guardsmen to try to keep Negro students out of the Little Rock school. He said Faubus' actions were un-American.

His father was working in Fort Wayne, Ind., when he learned Donny had been struck in the left eye by a fragment of pottery and might lose sight in the eye. The father flew to Los Angeles.

Donald, 32, and Virginia, 37, had been divorced two years. But as they prayed together at Donny's bedside they realized they belonged together.

Wins 1,000-to-1
The boy won a 1,000-to-1 chance—an operation was successful and the eye was saved. Thursday night, in his room at Glendale Memorial Hospital, Donny won something else: a father.

Donny's physician, Dr. Orrie Ghrist, was the best man.

Donald Sr. is going back to Fort Wayne for his things. Then he'll move here to rebuild his family life.

"We have to stay together," he said. "If anything else comes up, we'll just straighten it out, that's all."

BADLY HURT IN ALPINE CRASH
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — A vacationing U.S. Air Force pilot and his family careened at 75 miles an hour down a curving Alpine road Thursday when the brakes of their car failed.

Lt. Albert Vergara held to the road around hair-raising turns but the car finally crashed into a farm house.

His wife, Deborah Vergara, 25, a native of Syracuse, N.Y., was injured seriously. He and their two children, Albert 3, and Vonesse, 18 months, were only shaken up.

Police said it was a miracle that none was killed.

Mrs. Vergara suffered a slight brain concussion, numerous cuts and bruises and a slight spinal fracture. The Innsbruck Clinic reported she is not in critical condition.

Vergara said he hopes to fly her to a U.S. Air Force hospital in Germany within a few days. The 26-year-old lieutenant, a native of Coatesville, Pa., is stationed at Fuerstenfeldbruck Air Force Base in Germany.

JAY REGISTERS 2ND SHUTOUT FOR MILWAUKEE

By ED WILKS
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joey Jay, the youngster touted as having the stuff to be another Warren Spahn for the Milwaukee Braves, may just be starting, but he already has one of Spahn's traits down pat. Two of his three victories in the majors are shutouts.

It was Ben Geraghty, Milwaukee's top minor league boss, who tagged the 22-year-old right-hander as a comer who could become a consistent ace, such as Spahn, who among other records leads active National League pitchers with 42 shutouts.

That's a big order for Jay, who hasn't been a ball of fire since signing for a bonus in 1953. But there wasn't much wrong with his stuff last night as he blanked St. Louis 2-0 in a game held to six innings by rain.

Today's Talk

SIGNIFICANCE OF THOUGHT

In the Bible you will find this line: "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." In other words we are what we think. You can easily get the measure of a man after a brief talk with him. Look close enough, carefully listen, and you are apt to read his autograph on his face! There is a line in Emerson's writing that I often think upon. He said: "What you are speaks so loudly that I cannot hear what you say."

We love and trust people instinctively. Our handsake is a bit from our autobiography. We ourselves are our most accurate testimonial. The significance of thought is that no one can keep us from it. It is forever active and free, in fact it is the freest thing in the world! A gag can be put upon the utterance of a thought, but not upon its existence. Thought will forever remain significant, for from it are born all the joys, hopes and aspirations that become a part of our daily living. We can often think ourselves out of illness. It is from the throne of the human mind that all great thoughts are born and sent out into the world. There is nothing more significant than what we do with our inborn power of thought. You can meditate upon great things after standing before that great bronze by Rodin which he called "The Thinker." No one can know our thoughts until we give expression to them. We have no more sacred possession. It's what we do with our thoughts that can make our lives significant. We can visit, and talk with any number of useful human beings, as narrated in their books. Our thoughts have everything to do with our success and happiness in this best of all possible worlds!

Just Folks

A PRETTY GOOD LAND
In spite of the graft that is said to abound.
In spite of the rogues and their ways,
In spite of the wrong that's occasionally found,
My country, I still sing thy praise.
Let the muck rakers rake and view things with alarm,
Let them tincture their writings with gall,
This country of ours still retains all its charm;
It's a pretty good land after all.

I heed not the shout of the scoffer who cries
That riches are dragging us down,
For the Stars and Stripes proudly and splendidly flies
Over city and prairie and town,
And the warmth of the sun and the grace of the dew
As sweetly and tenderly fall;
In millions of breasts there are hearts beating true;
It's a pretty good land after all.

Let him who will say that this land that we love
Is losing its vision of right;
I say that her skies that are bending above
Are as gentle and blue and as bright
As they were when this nation of ours was first born.
Oh, the wrong that we see is but small;
And in spite of the lips that are turned up in scorn,
It's a pretty good land after all.

Weights, Measures Of Scotland

By B. F. M. MacPherson

The notes on the Boyd family, of "Masque Manor," are continued at this time.

A somewhat modern tombstone marks the grave of William Boyd, son of Thomas and Rebecca Boyd. The inscription is as follows:

"Wm. Boyd, Sen.,
& Elizabeth his wife, also
Mary, Benj., & Sam.
Children of W. and E.
Boyd."

Elizabeth & Jane Martin
& George Boyd
Grandchildren of
Wm. and E. Boyd.

William Boyd II, son of William I and Margaret Boyd, was born in 1726 and died in 1785 in Cumberland Township, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. He was married in 1748 to Catharine, the daughter of Archibald McGrew, another pioneer settler in what is now Adams County. Colonel McGrew, who served as an officer during the French and Indian Wars, was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, and died in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, at the home of his son, William McGrew.

In his will, which was written August 13, 1785, and entered to probate December 2, 1785, William Boyd II mentions the following members of his family:

1. Wife—Catharine (McGrew) Boyd.
2. Son—William Boyd (III).
3. Son—John Boyd.

4. Son—Robert Boyd.
5. Son—Archibald McGrew Boyd.
6. Son—Benjamin Boyd.

7. Daughter—Rosanna Boyd "now deceased but formerly intermarried with ——— Kennedy."
8. Daughter—Mary Boyd intermarried with John Cavan.
9. Daughter—Jenette Boyd.
10. Daughter—Elizabeth Boyd.

Both William Boyd II and his wife, Catharine McGrew, are buried in Black's Graveyard in unmarked graves.

Robert, the son of William II and Catharine (McGrew) Boyd, married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas and Catharine Larimer. Thomas Larimer, it will be remembered, built the old stone tavern, which are still standing at Two Taverns, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

Quite a few years ago the inscriptions from the headstones in Black's Graveyard were copied and fortunately that list is still available. Included in it are two Boyd markers that have since disappeared. They are as follows:

1. "Here lyes ye body of/ William Boyd/ who departed this life/ October 1, 1757/ aged 18 months."
2. "Here lyes the body of/ Margaret Boyd/ Departed this life/ August 22, 1767/ aged 7 years."
This concludes the notes on the Boyd family.

One of the most unusual grave-stones in the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian burial ground (more commonly known as Black's Graveyard) is that of Rebekah Erwin. This is an upright black slate stone, approximately twenty-eight inches high and eighteen inches wide. Carved at the top of the marker is a heraldic device, entitled the "Weights and Measures of Scotland." The following inscription is immediately beneath this design:

"Here lyes ye body of Rebekah Erwin, who departed this life
March 24, 1763.
Aged 47 Years

Very little is known pertaining to this particular family. A William Erwin was an early settler in the Manor of Masque. He took up a tract of land made improvements thereon as early as September, 1739. Rebekah Erwin could have been a daughter of this pioneer, although there is no absolute proof of such relationship. Undoubtedly other members of the Erwin family are buried in Black's graveyard for Rebekah Erwin's stone stands alone in a fair-sized plot. If so, it is the old story, the graves were never marked or the stones have disappeared.

The common tradition pertaining to the old slate stones, embellished with family coat of arms, is that they were brought from the "old country." An interesting story out one that does not fit in with the few known facts of the case.

A much more plausible theory states that the stones were quarried at Peachbottom, York County, Pennsylvania. The slate quarried there in later years was of precisely the same character and appearance.

A careful study of all the grave-stones of this type tends to prove that all were cut by the same hand. There is no "imprint" but each and every one show similarities that are identical.

The pioneer Bigham family can boast one of the old stones with the family coat-of-arms carved thereon. It depicts a lion rampant in a shield, with a clenched hand surmounting it. The marker is a large one covering an entire grave and the following inscription is cut thereon:

"Here lyes the Body of John Bigham who departed this life December ye 18th 1739. Aged 26 years. Also here lyes the Body of Agnes Bigham who departed this life December ye 18th, 1749.

Also
William Bigham who died February 2nd, 1816. In the 68th year of his Age."

William Bigham, born in York County, Pennsylvania, April 8, 1748, died in what is now Cumberland Township, Adams County, February 2, 1816. During the War of the American Revolution he served as a sergeant in Captain Thomas Church's Company of the Fourth Battalion, Anthony Wayne, colonel. In the campaign around Ticonderoga during 1776-77 he, William Bigham, was wounded and is said to have been carried to Albany, New York, by his brother, who was in the same company—a distance of some thirty miles.

Buried in the same plot with William Bigham are other members of his family. They are as follows:

1. Ann Bigham, died April 9, 1836, aged 78 years.
2. William Bigham, Junr., died December 30, 1828, aged 39 years.

Note: Probably the son of William Bigham Sr., who was a soldier in the war of the American Revolution.

FAMILY PLANS BIG FATHER'S DAY SURPRISE

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

The Associated Press
"You know what I think?" said 12-year-old Chris at the supper table. "I think Dad works too hard and he ought to have a real holiday on Father's day. This is the third night in a row he hasn't been home for dinner."

"Could we give him a holiday for a present?" said Betsy.
"Why not? You know he loves to go fishing. Why couldn't we all take him fishing?" asked Chris.
"I think that's a wonderful idea," said Mom, and she just glowed inside at this spontaneous outburst from her children.

Started Plans
"Let's get it all planned and paid for so he doesn't have to do a thing but go," said Chris. "I've got enough money to buy a tank of gas."

"I'll get his fishing tackle out and all fixed up," said John, "and I'm going to get him that blue dragon fly he wanted last year."

"Let's make a sign to tell him about it," suggested Betsy. "I don't have much money, but I could get the maps. And Mom, could I make some deviled eggs?" You know Dad loves them?"

"Sure thing, Betsy, you and I will get all the food ready, so we won't have to spend any money in a restaurant."

"Mom, did Dad renew his fishing license?" Chris was trying to think of everything.
"I'm sure he did, Chris," said Mom, "but I'll check on it."

And so it went. All three children and Mom planned every last detail of that trip and together they made a big sign: "Dad's Fishing Trip — Sponsored by His Wife and Children."

"What's sponsored mean?" asked Betsy.
"It means we're paying for it," answered Chris.

Excited Planning
"Well how do you spell it?" There was a little money bag attached to the sign labelled "expense account." There was a map with the route carefully marked out. There were pictures of deviled eggs and a little package containing the blue dragonfly.

Near the sign were Dad's fishing clothes all ready to wear and his pole and tackle box in apple pie order. His fishing license was pinned to his cap.

It took days of excited planning and whispering, but the secret was well kept. Saturday evening the plan was sprung and no Dad could have been more pleased. He loved fishing and he loved jaunts with his family.

Let's Look At The Record

By Jim Dan Hill, Ph.D.

LEGAL DICTATOR?

De Gaulle's Powers Based on Short Vote But French View Constitutions Lightly

DE GAULLE, is he legally and constitutionally a ruler of France, or was his peculiar "call" an artful usurpation of power?

Ex-Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg provided the semblance of a legal link between the German republic and Hitler. Has President Rene Coty and a majority of the French National Assembly done the same for le Grand Charles?

Answering these questions can result in some Gallic, constitutional hair splitting. But the French are without equal when it comes to playing with words and ignoring the substance. We thus approach the questions with a French attitude.

THE COPY of the Constitution for the Fourth French Republic now before me is a typewritten, off-set job. It was sent to our college library by the French Embassy.

This is typical of Gallic indifference to the constitutional concept of government. Few educated Frenchmen can tell you the number of constitutions their country has had since Louis XVI agreed to their first in 1791.

During the Decenniel Observance of the Liberation of France, 1954, I was briefly a guest of la Republique. In the chit-chat between courses during one of the banquets, I asked the question: How many constitutions?

A French official across the table began counting on his fingers. He came up with "nine or ten." His friend wrinkled a brow and thought it ought to be "thirteen or fourteen." "But no!" protested the first. "You are thinking of some short regimes, as those of the Marshal Petain and Napoleon's Hundred Days, when the ruler was so busy ruling he had not the time to write a constitution."

One thus readily understands why the French Embassy staff sent college libraries some glorified

mimeograph sheets as the official translation of their current constitution. Most likely, some thrifty budgeteer on the embassy staff was not sure the Fourth Republic was going to last long enough to justify a printer's bill.

ON THE OTHER hand, the typewritten copy may have been a hedge against a flock of amendments to this latest Constitution.

A two-thirds margin in the National Assembly, or a three-fifths support in both houses, changes the Constitution within days.

Should the National Assembly pass a law that is held unconstitutional, a two-thirds sustaining vote in this lower legislative chamber, or the three-fifths vote in both houses (less than the requirement to pass an American law over a Presidential veto) is all it takes to accommodate the French Constitution to the law rather than writing a new law to comply with the Constitution.

Accordingly, though it is technically unconstitutional in France for the legislative branch of the government to abdicate for six months and delegate dictatorial powers to one man for government by decree, a rabble rousing Hitler with a French accent could legally change it. He could become dictator for life merely by achieving a two-thirds vote from the popularly elected National Assembly of only 619 deputies.

DE GAULLE, moreover, was vested with his present, sweeping powers on a National Assembly vote considerably short of two thirds; i.e., the more than four hundred votes he at first demanded before he thought he could accept "The Call." He actually received a vote of 329 against an active minority of 224; and decided to take the job anyway.

Because the admitted powers of the French National Assembly are so broad and unlimited and Constitutional review is by a political committee, instead of a court, few will hazard a guess. But, an American Supreme Court would throw out the entire deal in less than fifteen minutes by citing Articles 9, 12, and 13 of the present French Constitution.

The first of these says no recess of the National Assembly shall be longer than four months. The last tells the National Assembly it can not delegate its law making powers.

DE GAULLE, aging, cautious and conservative, appears to be no totalitarian threat to the historic freedoms of the French people. But this unique return to power paves a broad highway for legalizing a future totalitarian, be he a hammer-and-sickle sign worshiper in the ranks of the Communist-Socialist bloc or an unproclaimed fascist currently waving the banners of De Gaulle.

The absence of a national, civic sense in modern France provides favorable climate for totalitarianism under either of these labels.

Poor France is so weary of uninhibited abuses of freedoms by a National Assembly that has known neither the restraints of a firm constitution nor the inhibitions of a civic responsibility that she has felt a compulsion to choose between a dictator and chaos.

Mickey Cohen To Get New Assault Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ex-gambler Mickey Cohen will be retried on a charge of assaulting a federal officer.

A jury was dismissed yesterday when it couldn't agree on his guilt or innocence.

The second trial was set for July 21.

"It's a dastardly thing," said Cohen. "It's a way of breaking a man's back — in this case financially. I can't afford another trial."

Cohen is charged with assaulting narcotics agent Howard Chappell. Cohen said he went to Chappell's office to inquire about a report that narcotics agents were trying to frame him.

Experiments Show Stilbestrol Improves Feeder Cattle Gains

Stilbestrol, now received by three-fourths of the beef cattle in feed lots throughout the country, also may help improve summer gains by yearling steers on pasture, according to research by Penn State and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

As part of grazing experiments last summer by the Departments of Animal Husbandry and Agronomy, yearling steers were treated with 24 milligrams of the hormone-like chemical, stilbestrol, implanted under the skin of the ear. In drylot feeding, stilbestrol is either implanted or added to the feed.

For the 152 day grazing test, the implanted steers averaged 2.45 pounds daily gain compared to 2.11 pounds daily gain for the non-implanted steers.

This increased gain amounted to about 16 per cent.

Following the grazing period, the steers were finished in dry lot for 60 days. The dressing percentages and carcass grades were about the same for both groups.

Grazing tests on yearling Here-

ford steers on range grass at the Northern Great Plains Field Station in North Dakota last year also showed that implanting stilbestrol would stimulate greater gains.

The majority of the research shows that the use of this hormone is economical to most cattle feeders. Cattle intended for the breeding herd should not be treated with this hormone, for it is used as a growth stimulant only on slaughter cattle.

Start Mosquito Control Early
Mid-May to early June is the time of year when mosquitoes begin their biting and annoying of humans and it may continue throughout the summer.

Since all mosquitoes must have water in which to breed, it is logical to prevent standing water as one of the best methods of controlling these insects. Water that is allowed to stand 10 to 12 days during the summer may afford an excellent breeding place for mosquitoes. Opening discarded tin cans at both ends and destroying glass containers to prevent water standing in them is suggested. Do not allow old tires, troughs, barrels, buckets and similar containers to hold standing water. Drain water holds and de-pressions, and either fill or treat them to prevent mosquito wrigglers. Repeat treatment during the summer at about seven to ten days intervals.

During the day adult mosquitoes hide under porches, tables, in basements, shrubs, hedges, weeds, and similar places out of direct sunlight. Spraying such areas to kill the adult mosquitoes is suggested. In homes and buildings, 5 per cent household type DDT, or any of the other household sprays, may be used. On shrubs, weeds, and other vegetation use either 2 tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable powder, or 1 tablespoon of 25 per cent DDT emulsion in 1 gallon of water as a spray. Repeat spraying to kill adults every two or three weeks throughout the summer.

There are several good repellents for mosquitoes that may be used to give relief for a few hours. These repellents are sold commercially by most drug stores.

Good Management Aids Bromegrass
Southern bromegrass is potentially one of the best all round perennial forage grasses for most Pennsylvania conditions. Often, however, bromegrass doesn't recover after first grazing or harvest, and is relatively non-productive during the hot summer months.

Based on recent studies completed by Indiana agronomists, these suggestions may help yield as much as

1/2 to 1 ton more hay from bromegrass this year, and in years ahead. Take the first crop off early in June, just as the heads are emerging from the boot, for grass silage or hay. Roots are well supplied with food reserves for regrowth at this stage.

Topdress stubble with about 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre. In some instances a complete 10-10-10 fertilizer may be desirable. This will help get the regrowth off to a fast start.

Give It A Rest
Rest grass for at least 3-4 weeks, if possible, before grazing this summer. By this time, if soil moisture is good, new shoots should have appeared on the underground lateral roots and food reserves have been stored in the roots.

If earlier summer grazing or mowing is necessary, mow or graze high to avoid injury to the growing points of the stems.

Fertilize, after last mowing or grazing with phosphorus and potash according to soil test. This will again help to maintain strong roots and good roots reserves for 1959. An early spring application of nitrogen next year will assure a heavy first harvest in 1959.

Similar management of timothy will also boost yield of this valuable hay grass.

Divide Perennials
Many spring blooming perennials can be divided shortly after blooms have faded, separate crowded iris clumps, eliminate old crowns, and transplant young vigorous rhizomes

The Weeder's Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. (AP) — With planting time in full swing through most of the country, we gardeners are so busy with trowels and watering cans that we have little time or energy to concern ourselves with other, less interesting phases of our hobby.

It's all right to talk about studying a book, drawing a plan or sticking on labels when there isn't much else one can do, but right now it does seem that keeping a garden diary is just another chore for tired hands and that it is silly to write a label to mark that bed of Shirley poppies—of course you'll remember what's there.

I've been a weekend gardener for years and have developed simple bookkeeping to help a faulty memory. Did I prune the mock orange last spring or was it the year before? What was the name of that little shrub I stuck in the west border? Did I lime the lawn in 1956 or 1955? These and a thousand other questions can be answered by much more interesting to visitors. Recently, some new people moved into our neighborhood after the owners had departed. With few exceptions — daffodil shoots and the emergence of the red tips of the peonies — the family had no idea what was going to emerge from the established flower beds.

Did Garden Tour
I did a garden tour with the new neighbors and succeeded in finding bleeding heart, day lilies, iris and identifying a few of the shrubs and trees — mostly from memory. But it occurred to me at the time that it would have been a nice thing if there had been some labels around, so the new owners would know what to look forward to.

There is quite a lot of maintenance work to be done at this time as well as planting. Most of the spring flowering shrubs, which bloom on last year's growth, should be pruned immediately after the flowers fade if a good show is to be expected next year. Prune with the idea of maintaining the natural shape of the shrub.

Plant labels are inexpensive and a great help for beginner gardeners — and for veterans trying something new as veterans always are. And the labels make a tour of the garden

Found Guilty In Beauty's Murder

BEAVER, Pa. (AP) — A jury today convicted Theodore Fallow, 25-year-old Midland, Pa., steelworker, of first degree murder for the fatal shooting of former beauty contestant Miss Rosalie Leis, 21, of Vanport, Pa. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Defense Atty. John Ray said he had no basis for an appeal unless "I change my mind." Dist. Atty. Richard P. Steward of Beaver County said he was satisfied with the verdict.

Miss Leis was shot to death near her home last March 13. The state introduced evidence that she was from 4 to 6 weeks pregnant.

Experiments Show Stilbestrol Improves Feeder Cattle Gains

Stilbestrol, now received by three-fourths of the beef cattle in feed lots throughout the country, also may help improve summer gains by yearling steers on pasture, according to research by Penn State and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

As part of grazing experiments last summer by the Departments of Animal Husbandry and Agronomy, yearling steers were treated with 24 milligrams of the hormone-like chemical, stilbestrol, implanted under the skin of the ear. In drylot feeding, stilbestrol is either implanted or added to the feed.

For the 152 day grazing test, the implanted steers averaged 2.45 pounds daily gain compared to 2.11 pounds daily gain for the non-implanted steers.

This increased gain amounted to about 16 per cent.

Following the grazing period, the steers were finished in dry lot for 60 days. The dressing percentages and carcass grades were about the same for both groups.

Grazing tests on yearling Here-

ford steers on range grass at the Northern Great Plains Field Station in North Dakota last year also showed that implanting stilbestrol would stimulate greater gains.

The majority of the research shows that the use of this hormone is economical to most cattle feeders. Cattle intended for the breeding herd should not be treated with this hormone, for it is used as a growth stimulant only on slaughter cattle.

Start Mosquito Control Early
Mid-May to early June is the time of year when mosquitoes begin their biting and annoying of humans and it may continue throughout the summer.

Since all mosquitoes must have water in which to breed, it is logical to prevent standing water as one of the best methods of controlling these insects. Water that is allowed to stand 10 to 12 days during the summer may afford an excellent breeding place for mosquitoes. Opening discarded tin cans at both ends and destroying glass containers to prevent water standing in them is suggested. Do not allow old tires, troughs, barrels, buckets and similar containers to hold standing water. Drain water holds and de-pressions, and either fill or treat them to prevent mosquito wigglers. Repeat treatment during the summer at about seven to ten days intervals.

During the day adult mosquitoes hide under porches, tables, in basements, shrubs, hedges, weeds, and similar places out of direct sunlight. Spraying such areas to kill the adult mosquitoes is suggested. In homes and buildings, 5 per cent household type DDT, or any of the other household sprays, may be used. On shrubs, weeds, and other vegetation use either 2 tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable powder, or 1 tablespoon of 25 per cent DDT emulsion in 1 gallon of water as a spray. Repeat spraying to kill adults every two or three weeks throughout the summer.

There are several good repellents for mosquitoes that may be used to give relief for a few hours. These repellents are sold commercially by most drug stores.

Good Management Aids Bromegrass
Southern bromegrass is potentially one of the best all round perennial forage grasses for most Pennsylvania conditions. Often, however, bromegrass doesn't recover after first grazing or harvest, and is relatively non-productive during the hot summer months.

Based on recent studies completed by Indiana agronomists, these suggestions may help yield as much as

1/2 to 1 ton more hay from bromegrass this year, and in years ahead. Take the first crop off early in June, just as the heads are emerging from the boot, for grass silage or hay. Roots are well supplied with food reserves for regrowth at this stage.

Topdress stubble with about 50 pounds of nitrogen per acre. In some instances a complete 10-10-10 fertilizer may be desirable. This will help get the regrowth off to a fast start.

Give It A Rest
Rest grass for at least 3-4 weeks, if possible, before grazing this summer. By this time, if soil moisture is good, new shoots should have appeared on the underground lateral roots and food reserves have been stored in the roots.

If earlier summer grazing or mowing is necessary, mow or graze high to avoid injury to the growing points of the stems.

Fertilize, after last mowing or grazing with phosphorus and potash according to soil test. This will again help to maintain strong roots and good roots reserves for 1959. An early spring application of nitrogen next year will assure a heavy first harvest in 1959.

Similar management of timothy will also boost yield of this valuable hay grass.

Divide Perennials
Many spring blooming perennials can be divided shortly after blooms have faded, separate crowded iris clumps, eliminate old crowns, and transplant young vigorous rhizomes

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. (AP) — With planting time in full swing through most of the country, we gardeners are so busy with trowels and watering cans that we have little time or energy to concern ourselves with other, less interesting phases of our hobby.

It's all right to talk about studying a book, drawing a plan or sticking on labels when there isn't much else one can do, but right now it does seem that keeping a garden diary is just another chore for tired hands and that it is silly to write a label to mark that bed of Shirley poppies—of course you'll remember what's there.

I've been a weekend gardener for years and have developed simple bookkeeping to help a faulty memory. Did I prune the mock orange last spring or was it the year before? What was the name of that little shrub I stuck in the west border? Did I lime the lawn in 1956 or 1955? These and a thousand other questions can be answered by referring to my diary and my rude maps of the garden beds, the former kept indoors and the latter held on a clipboard on a nail in the garage.

Read Cultural Instructions
One of the best ways to learn good gardening fast is the simple process of reading cultural instruction before planting, putting in seedlings or tackling special maintenance work. It is easy to forget that peonies loathe direct contact with fertilizer, that lilacs appreciate lime or that roses resent competition from other plants.

Plant labels are inexpensive and a great help for beginner gardeners—and for veterans trying something new as veterans always are. And the labels make a tour of the garden much more interesting to visitors. Recently, some new people moved into our neighborhood after the owners had departed. With few exceptions — daffodil shoots and the emergence of the red tips of the peonies — the family had no idea what was going to emerge from the established flower beds.

Did Garden Tour
I did a garden tour with the new neighbors and succeeded in finding bleeding heart, day lilies, iris and identifying a few of the shrubs and trees — mostly from memory. But it occurred to me at the time that it would have been a nice thing if there had been some labels around, so the new owners would know what to look forward to.

There is quite a lot of maintenance work to be done at this time as well as planting. Most of the spring flowering shrubs, which bloom on last year's growth, should be pruned immediately after the flowers fade if a good show is to be expected next year. Prune with the idea of maintaining the natural shape of the shrub.

As soon as danger of frost is over,

Found Guilty In Beauty's Murder

BEAVER, Pa. (AP) — A jury today convicted Theodore Fallow, 25-year-old Midland, Pa., steelworker, of first degree murder for the fatal shooting of former beauty contestant Miss Rosalie Leis, 21, of Vanport, Pa. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Defense Atty. John Ray said he had no basis for an appeal unless "I change my mind." Dist. Atty. Richard P. Steward of Beaver County said he was satisfied with the verdict.

Miss Leis was shot to death near her home last March 13. The state introduced evidence that she was from 4 to 6 weeks pregnant.

A witness, Paul H. Gibson, said, "She went up in the air. The baby and stroller went under the car."

Gibson vaulted his fence and saw the car swerve several times and continue on its way. "They were dead when I got there," Gibson said.

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Joseph P. Goughan, 32, was held in the Montgomery County jail Friday under $25,000 bond for the hit-run killing of a 19-year-old Bethesda woman and her 11-month old son.

Goughan, a Polson, Pa., iron worker, had made no formal statement, detectives said.

Asst. State's Atty. James R. Miller said Goughan faces a possible maximum sentence of seven years in prison if he is convicted of the two charges of manslaughter and one of hit-and-run lodged against him.

Mrs. Martha Ricketts and her infant son, Andrew, were struck and killed at twilight Wednesday as Mrs. Ricketts pushed her son in a stroller beside a Bethesda street.

A witness, Paul H. Gibson, said, "She went up in the air. The baby and stroller went under the car."

Gibson vaulted his fence and saw the car swerve several times and continue on its way. "They were dead when I got there," Gibson said.

SKIES CLEAR THRU MIDWEST; COOLER TREND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Skies cleared over waterlogged sections of the Midwest today while thunderstorms rumbled across the South and dumped rain from Texas into New England.

A cooler trend north of the Ohio River came in the wake of fresh downpours on flooded areas of Indiana and a night of thunderstorm and tornado activity in Texas and Missouri.

The Wabash River rose for the second time this week in Indiana and Mayor J. Robert Mitten of Wabash declared a state of emergency and asked the National Guard to help evacuate families.

70 M.P.H. Wind
Winds clocked at 70 m.p.h. whipped a narrow path several miles long across Macon County in central Illinois Friday night, smashing numerous farm buildings, uprooting trees and downing utility lines.

A violent wind squall, at first believed to be a tornado, uprooted buildings, uprooted trees and hospitalized one person at Bordentown, N.J.

Trees were uprooted, utility lines snarled and houses damaged by a twister that struck Concordia, Mo., some 60 miles east of Kansas City. A small twister

Police learned about the tied tots from a woman police school crossing guard, who had learned of it from a girl.

The boys will be placed in a foster home under direction of the welfare department.

Liner Is Delayed By Engineers' Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike by 46 engineers held up the liner United States eight hours Thursday.

The liner, America's largest and carrying 1,776 Europe-bound passengers, was scheduled to sail at noon but the engineers refused to sign on until a list of grievances was settled.

Grievances involved shift assignments in port that cut down their time ashore with their families, arbitrary transfers to other ships, and discrimination in promotions.

Some cooks like to apply the glaze to a ham during the last half hour of baking, adding some of the mixture every 10 minutes.

Two policemen found the youngsters, their legs tied to the springs of their mattressless cribs.

Both boys were filthy, police said, and had rashes over large areas of their bodies.

Charge Mother

Police arrested the mother of the youngest child, Mrs. Jean T. Arthur, 21. She was working at the home of her landlady in the same block.

She was charged with assault on the older boy and was held in $1,000 bail for grand jury action.

SKIES CLEAR THRU MIDWEST; COOLER TREND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Skies cleared over waterlogged sections of the Midwest today while thunderstorms rumbled across the South and dumped rain from Texas into New England.

A cooler trend north of the Ohio River came in the wake of fresh downpours on flooded areas of Indiana and a night of thunderstorm and tornado activity in Texas and Missouri.

The Wabash River rose for the second time this week in Indiana and Mayor J. Robert Mitten of Wabash declared a state of emergency and asked the National Guard to help evacuate families.

70 M.P.H. Wind

Winds clocked at 70 m.p.h. whipped a narrow path several miles long across Macon County in central Illinois Friday night, smashing numerous farm buildings, uprooting trees and downing utility lines.

A violent wind squall, at first believed to be a tornado, uprooted buildings, uprooted trees and hospitalized one person at Borden-town, N.J.

Trees were uprooted, utility lines snarled and houses damaged by a twister that struck Concordia, Mo., some 60 miles east of Kansas City. A small twister
